Media Information

CREDENTIALS: Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be obtained by contacting Rick Brewer in the Sports Information Office. Brewer's mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working press box. Children, spouses and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

FILING COPY: The Department of Athletics furnishes a number of telephones for writers to use in moving their copy from the press box. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell in Chapel Hill.

The Carolina Sports Information Office has one telecopier which will be available for sending copy. An operator's fee of $10 per game will be charged for its use. This fee will cover the cost of a student assistant staying late to send copy. It is strongly suggested, however, that if at all possible, newsmen covering games in Kenan Stadium bring their own telecopiers. This will allow all copy to be moved more quickly and will alleviate any deadline problems.

PRESS BOX SERVICES: Programs, flip cards and statistics will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game.

Lunch will be served on the third level of the press box before each game and at halftime. Soft drinks and coffee are available on the second level (writers' area) throughout the game.

SIDELINE POLICY: Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without an armband. Armbands can be picked up in the press box prior to the game. Each photographer must pick up his or her own armband.

INTERVIEWS: Each Tuesday during the football season Dick Crum will be available to the media at a press luncheon. Television and radio tapes can be done at 11:30 a.m. with the luncheon starting at noon in Kenan Fieldhouse.

Player interviews can be arranged by contacting the Sports Information Office. Generally, interviews will be set up in Kenan Fieldhouse. However, Carolina's actual locker room is closed to the press during the season except on Saturdays following games. Player interviews are not allowed on Fridays preceding games.

RADIO NETWORK AND TV SHOWS: Over 60 stations in three states will once again carry the Tar Heel Football Network. The network is operated by Village Companies of Chapel Hill with Jim Heavner as the executive producer. Woody Durham handles the play-by-play with Henry Hinton adding color commentary.

The Carolina Football Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. This show features Crum and highlights of the previous game.

In addition, Tar Heel Football Highlights, a 30-minute recap of each game is also shown across the state on Sundays. This show is produced by Raycom of Charlotte.

1984: The Outlook

With only 30 lettermen and 11 starters returning from last fall, North Carolina's Tar Heels head into the 1984 football season with one of their most inexperienced teams in years.

In fact, Carolina Coach Dick Crum says this will be the youngest college team with which he has ever been associated.

However, Crum also feels his young players have good talent. How quickly they mature will be the key to Carolina's success in the upcoming season.

The Tar Heels will certainly be hard-pressed to equal the accomplishments of past Carolina teams under Crum. Carolina has made five straight bowl appearances and has been a fixture in the wire services' Top 20 polls. The Tar Heels have won 45 games in the last five seasons to rank as one of the 10 winningest teams in the nation in that period. Carolina posted an 8-4 mark last year.

Approaching that level of play this fall may be difficult. Only four starters return on defense and there is a lack of game experience at quarterback.

"My biggest concern is simply the fact that we are so young," says Crum. "That's especially true defensively and at quarterback.

"But, I was impressed with the attitude of our players in spring practice. They worked very hard and I think we made some improvement every time we walked on the field. We were very competitive at every position each day and that turned out to be a good situation."

The biggest competition unquestionably was on defense where there were so many holes to fill. The battle for playing time there figures to continue into the fall. Among the missing players who must be replaced are two-time All-America tackle William Fuller; strong safety Willie Harris, an All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in each of the past two years; and linebacker Bill Sheppard, the team's leading tackler last fall.

Offensively, the Tar Heels will be without quarterback Scott Stankavage, tackle Joe Conwell, All-America tackle Brian Blados, flanker Mark Smith and tailback Tyrone Anthony. Smith was Carolina's leading receiver in 1983 with 40 catches, eight of them for touchdowns. Stankavage threw 16 touchdown passes and Anthony rushed for 1,063 yards, third-highest total in the ACC and 19th best in the country.

Carolina, however, has not lost all of its talent. Two returning players, in fact, rate as strong candidates for All-America honors—outside linebacker Micah Moon and tailback Ethan Horton. In addition, center Harris Barton, tight end Arnold Franklin, offensive guard Greg Naron, fullback Eddie Colson, defensive tackle Brian Johnston and free safety Tim Morrison also have all-star capabilities.

Crum is expecting solid performances from all of those players. With the exception of Micah Moon (39) zeroes in on an opposing runner.

Morrison, all are returning starters and battle-tested. It is his new players with whom Crum is most concerned.

Newcomers will be most prevalent on defense. In addition to Moon and Johnston, the only other returning starters there are cornerback Larry James and free safety Steve Hendrickson. However, Hendrickson may not be a starter this fall and Moon will be playing a new position. Thus, the Tar Heels may well open the season with only Johnston and James starting at the positions they played last year.

Top man on this defensive unit will be Moon, the latest in a long line of brilliant Carolina linebackers. The 6-1, 230-pound senior from Altavista, Va. had a superb junior season. He led the Tar Heels in solo tackles with 73, had three sacks, intercepted a pass and recovered two fumbles. He was the major bright spot in Carolina's season-ending Peach Bowl loss to Florida State, making 21 tackles and earning defensive MVP honors.

Those accomplishments came at one of the Tar Heels' two inside linebacker positions. He will move to outside linebacker this fall where he may even be more effective. At that position, Moon gives Carolina a player in the Lawrence Taylor/Mike Wilcher mold. He has the speed, quickness, size and great instincts to be one of the top big-play performers in college football.

Moon's shift to outside linebacker strengthens a position which is still of great concern to Tar Heel coaches. Of the other top four players at outside linebacker, only Ron Burton has ever been in a college game. Burton, a 6-1, 235-pound sophomore from Richmond, Va., lettered as a special teams player in 1982, but missed all of last year with an arm injury.

Joining him in the fight for playing time are three red-shirt freshmen—Daryl Parham, 6-6, 240 pounds from Lynchburg, Va.; Joel Freeze, 6-2, 210 pounds from Rockville, Md.; and Noel McEachern, 6-3, 205 pounds from Fayetteville, N.C. All showed good ability in the spring, but were plagued by inconsistency because of their inexperience. Freeze and McEachern are the leading candidates for the starting spot opposite Moon, but Parham and Burton are also still very much in the picture.

There is also inexperience in the interior of the five-man front. Johnston and Dennis Barton, the number two nose guard last fall, are the only players there with appreciable experience.

Johnston, a 6-3, 279-pound senior from Highland, Md., is heading into his second year as a starter at tackle. He's a hard-nosed competitor who has developed into a fine pass rusher. He's being counted on to be one of the defensive leaders.

Behind Johnston are Mike Johnson, a 6-4, 244-pound sophomore from Dover, Del., and Donnie Wallace, a 6-3, 260-pound freshman from Everetts, N.C. Johnson saw limited reserve action last fall, while Wallace was red-shirted. Although slowed at times in the spring by nagging injuries, Wallace showed signs he could be an exceptional player.

The other starting tackle is likely to be either Jeff Ray, a 6-3, 258-pound junior from Durham, N.C., or Reuben Davis, a 6-3, 256-pound red-shirt freshman from Greensboro, N.C. Ray was one of the surprises of the spring work. A tight end throughout his Tar Heel career, he was switched to defense and did an outstanding job. Davis has great talent, but lacks experience. Other possibilities here are Wallace and veteran Bill Bumgarner who missed the entire 1983 season with a shoulder injury.

Barron moves into the starting nose guard job after playing as a backup last year. The 6-3, 260-pound sophomore from Wilson, N.C. has the ability to be a standout performer. Best of the backups at nose guard is Carlton Bailey, a 6-2, 225-pound red-shirt freshman from Baltimore, Md. He was moved from linebacker in the spring and brings great quickness to this spot.

With Moon gone to a new position and Sheppard in the Canadian Football League, there are two openings at linebacker. Four players should see considerable action there—Carl Carr, a 6-3, 214-pound junior from Alexandria, Va.; Troy Simmons, a 6-1, 217-pound junior from Spring Lake, N.C.; Brett Rudolph, a 6-2, 221-pound freshman from Chagrin Falls, Ohio; and Tim Rorrer, a 6-1, 220-pound junior from Hampton, Va.

Carr and Simmons saw action in reserve roles last season, while Rorrer was a backup at outside linebacker. Rudolph was red-shirted and did not play.

Carolina's top five secondary players should be James, Morrison, Hendrickson, Walter Bailey and Barry James.

Larry James may have been the Tar Heels' best defensive back down the stretch last season. The 5-10, 183-pound senior from Middletown, Ohio had 41 solo tackles and 12 assists at left cornerback. After being a part-time starter as a sophomore, he made good improvement throughout his junior season.

Bailey, a 6-1, 201-pound sophomore from Hampton, Va., saw considerable action in the last half of the 1983 season and is now set at right cornerback. He has exceptional athletic ability and just needs more experience to be a solid player.

Morrison, a 6-1, 189-pound junior from Fayetteville, N.C., had a sensational spring to pass Hendrickson on the depth chart at free safety. He could be one of the ACC's best defenders if he can maintain that starting position. Hendrickson, a 5-11, 173-pound senior from Danville, Va., figures to make that spot very competitive this fall. But, even if he doesn't win the safety job, Hendrickson will be a key player as Carolina's nickel back.

Barry James, Larry's twin brother, will move in at strong safety. Most of his previous experience has come on special teams.

"I think we have good young people on defense," says Crum. "We just don't have a lot of experience and I can't emphasize enough how important that is on defense. If an inexperienced player makes a mistake on offense, it might cost you a couple of yards or perhaps possession of the ball. On defense, it can cost you six points."

Offensively, the biggest question mark is at quarterback. Stankavage ranked among the national leaders in passing efficiency throughout the 1983 season and his backup, Kevin Anthony, saw just limited action. Anthony, a 6-2, 188-pound sophomore from Decatur, Ga., threw only 14 passes and did not play at all in the Tar Heels' final six games.

Anthony, however, did a fine job in spring practice and rates as the Tar Heel starter going into the fall. He is a good passer and also is a threat as a runner.

His competition for the starting spot will come from Mark Maye, a 6-4, 204-pound red-shirt freshman from Charlotte, N.C. Maye was contending for the number one job when he suffered a sprained knee the second week of spring practice. He missed the rest of the off-season work, but will be ready to go this fall.

While both Anthony and Maye have fine talent, inexperience is a problem. However, Crum likes their potential.

"I really believe we'll be solid at quarterback," he says. "Kevin and Mark are young and need playing time, but both have good ability. Kevin is certainly the leader right now, but Mark is a great competitor and I imagine he'll push him for the starting job in the fall. I expect both will play this season."

Crum says there is a possibility he may even alternate his quarterbacks as he has his tailbacks in the past. Crum had success with such a system one year at Miami of Ohio. However, no final decision on the quarterbacks will be made until they can be evaluated during pre-season practice.

The rest of the starting backfield is set with Horton at tailback and Colson at fullback. Horton rates as one of the top backs in college football. He led the ACC in rushing last season with 1,107 yards. He accumulated that total although he actually split time at tailback with Tyrone Anthony. With Anthony graduated, Horton figures to carry the ball more in Carolina's I-formation.

The 6-4, 218-pound senior from Kannapolis, N.C. is capable of doing just that. Big and powerful, Horton has the strength to carry the ball 30 to 35 times a game. He also has deceptive speed for a man of his size. A high school quarterback, Horton has been at this position just three years and is still getting better and better.

While Horton will be the starter, backups William Humes and John Duffel will also get playing time. Crum believes in rotating his tailbacks so he always has a fresh player in the game at that spot. Humes, a 6-0, 194-pound sophomore from Asheville, N.C., was the number three tailback last year. He gained 254 yards although his season was interrupted by a knee injury. Duffel is a 5-11, 170-pound red-shirt freshman.

Colson gives Carolina outstanding running and blocking at fullback. As the lead blocker for Horton and Anthony last year, he helped each of them rush for 1,000 yards. In addition, he gained 425 himself. Junior Ray Littlejohn and red-shirt freshman Brad Lopp are the fullback reserves.

Despite the loss of Blados and Conwell, the offensive line again shapes up as a solid unit. The Tar Heels led the ACC and were seventh nationally in total offense last year and the play of the interior was a major factor in that.

Returning starters in the line are Barton, a 6-4, 265-pound sophomore from Atlanta, Ga.; Naron, a 6-5, 270-pound senior from Randleman, N.C.; and Willy Austin, a 6-5, 268-pound senior from Hudson, N.C.

Barton, who started every game last fall as a red-shirt freshman, did a fine job in the off-season work and has established himself as one of the ACC's best linemen. Naron is also capable of contending for all-star honors after a solid junior season.

C.A. Brooks, a 6-4, 255-pound sophomore from Cincinnati, Ohio, moved ahead of Austin at right guard after a strong performance in spring practice.

Ethan Horton sweeps for a big gain.

Moving in at the tackles will be Pat Sheehan, a 6-3, 249-pound sophomore from Princeton, N.J., and Bobby Pope, a 6-2, 279-pound senior from Hickory, N.C. Sheehan was a backup at tackle last fall, while Pope was a reserve at guard. Pope was probably the most improved offensive lineman in spring practice and was shifted to tackle to get him in the lineup. Austin will be the top reserve at both guard and tackle.

Another important blocker in Carolina's offensive scheme is the tight end and the Tar Heels should get outstanding play there from Franklin, a 6-3, 241-pound junior from Lincoln Heights, Ohio. In addition to his sensational blocking, Franklin is also a fine receiver. He was Carolina's second-leading receiver last year with 25 catches.

Ranking third in catches was Franklin's backup, Dave Truitt, a 6-4, 230-pound junior from Gaithersburg, Md., had 18 receptions last fall. It is unlikely if any team in the country has two better tight ends than Franklin and Truitt.

Heading up the wide receivers is Earl Winfield, a 6-0, 187-pound junior from Dinwiddie, Va. Winfield had 16 catches at split end last fall, but will move to flanker this year. Sophomore Eric Streater will replace him as the starting split end.

Another experienced wide receiver is Larry

Griffin who will play a great deal at both flanker and split end. He had 16 catches in 1983, four of them for touchdowns. Red-shirt freshmen Norris Davis, Eric Lewis and Kenny Miller should also get playing time at these spots. Miller is a fine all-around athlete who played quarterback and tailback in the spring.

Davis and Lewis have the speed and running ability to be used as kickoff return men. Bailey looms as Walter Black's likely successor as a punt returner. Tommy Barnhardt returns as the Carolina punter after averaging 39.6 last fall. Lee Gliarmis and Rob Rogers should handle the place-kicking duties although both need more consistency. Miller and David Lowe are other possibilities as place-kickers.

The schedule is challenging, especially for such a young team as Carolina. The Tar Heels open the season by facing two of the top Heisman Trophy candidates, Napoleon McCallum of Navy and Doug Flutie of Boston College, play Kansas in Chapel Hill and then open ACC competition at Clemson.

"That early schedule would be tough for any team, but it causes special problems for an inexperienced team like we are going to have," says Crum. "But, really those games should make us a better team. We will have to grow up in a hurry and I believe this is a team that will keep improving as the season goes along."

Numerical Roster

(This roster includes all varsity and freshman players. There are some duplicate numbers simply because Carolina has more players than numbers. However, in all cases of duplication, one player is on offense and the other defense. Final positions for the freshmen will be decided when they arrive on campus this fall. There could be some number changes at that time.)

What Crum Says About:

SPRING PRACTICE

"This was the best spring we've ever had at Carolina in terms of our kids working hard and really getting after it. We had good competition at every position each day we went on the field and I think that created a healthy atmosphere. I was really impressed with the attitude of our players.

"This was an important spring for us because we have so many young, inexperienced players on whom we're going to be counting this fall. Spring is a time for teaching and because of our youth, we had to do a lot of it this year.

"The only really bad thing about the spring was the fact we had some injuries which kept some of our key young people off the practice field at times. I'm talking about players like Kevin Anthony, Mark Maye and Donnie Wallace. Those are the guys who really needed a lot of work and repetitions. Of course, we also did not have Micah Moon in the spring. But, we know what he can do, as does every professional scout in the country."

MICAH MOON

"As far as pure athletic ability is concerned, he compares favorably with Lawrence Taylor. He is just a great, great athlete. The things that are most impressive to me are his great instincts and his ability to run. In those respects, he's like Buddy Curry, only Micah is bigger.

"Of course, he missed spring practice after undergoing wrist surgery. That hurt us because we would have liked to have seen him on the field with our young kids. That would have helped our chemistry because Micah is such a good leader.

"Micah has played very well for us, but he still hasn't reached his full potential. He's capable of having a season like Taylor had in his senior year. It's going to be a matter of him finally putting everything together and realizing just how much he is really capable of doing."

ETHAN HORTON

"Ethan is a complete back. He runs well, he catches well and he's a good blocker. Plus, he has excellent leadership qualities.

"Ethan is really just beginning to come into his own as a tailback. Of course, he was a quarterback until his freshman year here and has only been playing this position for two-and-a-half years. He has gotten better and better each season.

"Ethan is a little bit different from some of the other tailbacks we've had at Carolina recently in that he is so big. I think that size has helped his durability. But despite the fact he weighs 220 pounds, he has excellent speed. He's simply a great athlete, someone who could probably play any position on a football team. He's definitely capable of being an All-America type player."

THE QUARTERBACK SITUATION

"I think we're fortunate to have two quarterbacks with the ability of Kevin Anthony and Mark Maye. Both just need game experience to be very good players for us.

"Right now I really don't know who our quarterback is going to be. Kevin will go into the fall listed number one on the depth chart. He earned that position with a good showing in the spring. Mark missed three weeks of spring practice with a sprained knee and that has put him behind. However, I expect him to compete for that number one spot when practice resumes.

"Provided one does not move way ahead of the other, we'll probably start off the season playing both of them. During the spring, the rest of the squad responded well to both. I can see our quarterback situation being like our tailback position in the past—no real starter, but two people who play about the same amount of time.

"Now, if one of the two asserts himself and is clearly ahead of the other, then we might go with one starter. But, right now we're planning on using both. Their individual skills differ a little bit and by playing both, I think we can enhance our offense."

CONCERNS

"Inexperience.

"This will be the youngest college team I've ever been around. Defensively, inexperience will be a major problem up front. Our front five is going to be extremely young. We're also going to have some new people in the secondary and that's a tough place to get experience.

"We have more experience on offense. However, the place you need it most, quarterback, is where we are the youngest."

STRONG POINTS

"Coming out of the spring, I was very pleased with the attitude of our players. Our kids really worked hard and I think that's going to carry over into the fall.

"While we lack experience, we do have some very good young players. I expect them to get better as the season progresses. The fact we're so young could be a plus for us in that we should be enthusiastic. College football is a tough sport and being enthusiastic and having a good attitude can make things a lot easier.

"Another strong point should be our team speed. That will be better than it was last year.

"I also like having Ethan Horton and Eddie Colson in our offensive backfield. They give us an excellent pair of backs, maybe the best pair in the Atlantic Coast Conference."

A GENERAL OUTLOOK

"I'm really looking forward to the season because I think this is going to be a fun team to coach. Anytime you have as many young players as we do, things are usually pretty exciting.

"We play a tough early schedule, but I think that may help us in the long run. It will force our kids to mature quickly. Early on, our players are going to find out how hard they'll have to play in order to win.

"In fact, one of the most important things for a young player is getting a feel for how hard he has to play. There is such a difference between high school and college football. Once our guys figure out they can't just play well for two downs and then let up, but that they have to go full speed every play, they will start to improve. We began to do that in the spring, but that process must continue if we are to be a good football team."

The Tar Heels

Kevin Anthony
Quarterback
6-2, 188, Sophomore
Decatur, Ga.

Heads into the fall as Carolina's number one quarterback... Was the top reserve behind Scott Stankavage last year... Saw spot action in the first six games of the season but did not play after that... Completed eight of 14 passes for 80 yards and one touchdown... Also threw one interception... Got his most playing time against Miami, completing five of seven passes for 56 yards... Had a 10-yard TD pass in that game... Did a fine job in spring practice to move into the starting role... Had an excellent night in a Charlotte scrimmage with seven completions in 12 attempts for 128 yards and one touchdown... Was just 12 for 30 for 153 yards and one score in the spring game, but had several balls dropped by open receivers... For a young quarterback, he has excellent composure and handles the team well... Commands the respect of the other players... A very intelligent person... Has good awareness on the field... Throws the ball with good accuracy... Runs well... Strongest suit may be his excellent maneuverability... Has a certain flair on the field... Good scrambler who can manufacture offense when things break down... Has great work habits... Works as hard in the weight room as he does on the practice field... A student of the game... Wants to be a good player... Very intense... Has all the tools to have an excellent career here... Just needs to play under fire and learn to deal with all that is involved in being a quarterback on a football Saturday... Came to Carolina in 1982 as a freshman, but was red-shirted and did not play.

Georgia 4-A Player of the Year at Lakeside High School in 1981... Quarterbacked his team to an 11-1 record and a spot in the regional finals... Completed 73 of 133 passes that year for 1,254 yards and 11 touchdowns... Rushed for 191 yards and scored seven times himself... Had one game in which he completed nine of 10 passes for 249 yards and three TDs... All-county and all-state selection... Finalist for the Atlanta Touchdown Club Back-of-the-Year Award... Voted Lakeside's most outstanding student-athlete and most outstanding senior... MVP in both baseball and football... Won two letters in football and basketball, three in baseball and one in track... Member of the National Honor Society... Grade point average was 3.97 out of a possible 4.0... Turned down appointments to the U.S. Naval Academy and the Air Force Academy to come to Carolina... Fine student who is majoring in economics... Born May 1, 1964.

Willy Austin
Offensive Tackle
6-5, 268, Senior
Hudson, N.C.

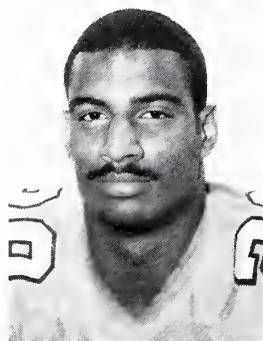

Started all 12 games at right guard last season... Slowed by injuries in the spring and enters fall practice as the number two man at right tackle... Expected to contend for a starting spot at either guard or tackle this year... His ability to play either position will be a big plus for the Tar Heel line... A hard worker on and off the field... Conscientious... Very dependable... Gives everything he has both in practice and in games... Good competitor... Tough and aggressive... Has fine size and strength... An intelligent young man who figures to see a great deal of action... Lettered as a backup at both guard and tackle during his sophomore season... Had seen very limited playing time as a freshman... Was a two-way tackle at South Caldwell High School... An All-Western 4-A selection both ways... Team captain as a senior... Started on defense in the Shrine Bowl and also played in the East-West All-Star Game... Earned three letters in football and basketball and one in track and baseball... Majoring in industrial relations... Born October 24, 1962.

Carlton Bailey
Nose Guard
6-2, 225, Freshman
Baltimore, Md.

Red-shirt freshman who did a fine job in spring practice... A defensive tackle at Woodlawn High School, Bailey was shifted to linebacker last fall... Moved to nose guard last spring when coaches saw he could help at that position... Greatest asset is his quickness... In addition to quickness, also has good speed... Tough to block one on one... Made several big plays in the spring... Goes into the fall behind only Dennis Barron at this position... Complements Barron very well... Expected to get playing time on special teams as well as at nose guard... An all-county and all-metro performer at Woodlawn... Played on a Class AA championship team there... Captain of his track team... Set the Baltimore County record in the 330-yard high hurdles, winning All-America honors in that event... Enrolled in the General College at Carolina... Born December 15, 1964.

Walter Bailey
Defensive Back
6-1, 201, Sophomore
Hampton, Va.

One of Carolina's best young players... Set to start at right cornerback after seeing action in a reserve role last fall... A red-shirt freshman who played more and more throughout the course of the 1983 season... Saw a great deal of action late in the year in passing situations... Made one of the biggest plays of the season in the finale against Duke with a fumble-causing tackle in the fourth quarter... The Tar Heels recovered and then moved for the winning touchdown in a 34-27 victory... Finished the year with 13 solo tackles, six assists and four passes broken up... His strong finish and a good showing in spring practice earned him a starting berth... Has good football sense... An enthusiastic player and a good hitter... Tough and aggressive... An excellent competitor... Has good size and speed... Those attributes make him a leading candidate to return punts this fall... Was a three-year regular as a defensive back and running back at Bethel High School... Rushed for 1,062 yards as a senior... Had 33 career interceptions, including 12 in his senior season... Led the Peninsula District in scoring with 78 points... Named to the Parade

All-America team as an offensive back and to the National High School Coaches Association All-America squad as a safety... Selected one of 1981's top five high school players in Virginia by the Roanoke Times... Also lettered in track at Bethel... A sociology major... Born October 31, 1963.

Tommy Barnhardt

Punter
6-3, 214, Junior
China Grove, N.C.

Won the punting job last fall and performed well in that role... Punted 36 times for a 39.6 average... Ranked fourth in the Atlantic Coast Conference in punting... Had the longest kick of the year in the ACC—a 68-yarder against Clemson... That is also his career best... Averaged 48.0 yards on three punts that day against the Tigers, his top single-game performance of the season... Also did a fine job at South Carolina, averaging 45.0 on four kicks... On 23 of his 36 punts, opponents got the ball inside their own 30-yard lines... Did a good job in the Peach Bowl with a 45.2 average on six kicks... Transferred to Carolina in the spring of 1982 from East Carolina... Had been the Pirate punter as a freshman in 1981... Averaged 37.5 yards that season on 59 punts... His longest punt of the year, a 58-yarder, came against Carolina in his second game... Averaged 42.9 on nine punts that day... Good all-around athlete... Quarterback at South Rowan High... Majoring in industrial relations... Born June 11, 1963.

Dennis Barron

Nose Guard
6-3, 260, Sophomore
Wilson, N.C.

Expected to be a key player in Carolina's defensive scheme... Goes into the fall as the starter at nose guard after playing as a backup last year... Saw considerable action in his reserve role... Also played quite a bit in passing situations... Only Brian Johnston has more game experience among the Tar Heel interior defensive linemen... Went into the spring as the starter and kept that position with a solid showing... Got a lot of work in the off-season drills which should be a great help to him this fall... Has all the tools to be an outstanding defensive lineman... Has excellent size and strength... In fact, he's the biggest nose guard Dick Crum has had in seven years at Carolina... A very physical young player... Has a nose for the football and a good awareness of what's happening on the field at all times... Fine pass rusher... Forced six hurried throws last year and chased the quarterback out of the pocket on two other occasions, allowing someone else to make the tackle... Also had one sack... Has unusual speed and quickness for a man of his size... Was red-shirted as a freshman in 1982... Won Parade All-America honors at Beddingfield High... Played defensive tackle, linebacker and tight end there... Three times an all-area selection... Twice an All-East and all-conference choice... Associated Press and Greensboro Daily News all-state pick as a senior at defensive tackle... Named one of the top five players in the state by the Roanoke Times... Won three letters in football and two in track... Selected for the East-West All-Star Game... An industrial relations major... Born December 31, 1963.

Harris Barton

Center
6-4, 265, Sophomore
Atlanta, Ga.

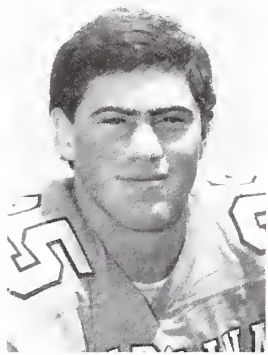

Here's one of the best young players in college football... Rates as one of Carolina's leading all-star candidates... Started every game at center last fall as a red-shirt freshman... Had never snapped a ball in a game until last year, but did an excellent job... Got better and better throughout the 1983 season... Played his best football down the stretch... A highly-motivated, goal-oriented person... Has tremendous inner drive... Mentally and physically tough... Has never missed a practice at Carolina because of an injury... Has outstanding work habits... Takes pride in his play... Plays hard and practices hard... Although just a sophomore, he's already a leader on the field... A very reliable person... Has excellent size and is one of the team's strongest players... His blocking was a major factor in Carolina leading the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing and total offense last year and finishing seventh nationally in both... Offensive and defensive tackle at Dunwoody High School... All-county, all-metro and all-state as a senior... Named his team's most valuable player that season... Won three letters in football, one in basketball and one in wrestling... A good student who is majoring in business administration... Born April 19, 1964.

David Boggs

Nose Guard
6-1, 240, Senior
Statesville, N.C.

Lettered last year as a reserve in the defensive line and as a special teams player... Saw action at both tackle and nose guard... Listed as one of the backups at nose guard this fall... Has added weight since last season... A very steady player... Smart and quick... Has a great attitude... Good toughness... Should again be a prominent member of special teams... A walk-on who saw junior varsity action as a freshman... A member of the varsity in 1982, but did not letter... Majoring in industrial relations.

Joe Boggs
Defensive Back
5-11, 192, Sophomore
Statesville, N.C.

A walk-on who did a good job on the scout team last fall... A reserve at strong safety... A hard worker... Has a great attitude... His brother, David, is also a member of the Tar Heel squad... Plans to major in business.

Eddison Bramble
Defensive Back
5-11, 200, Senior
Garden City Park, N.Y.

Carolina's number two strong safety... Has lettered in each of the past two seasons with most of his playing time coming on special teams... Will be counted on heavily in that area again this fall... Also could see action in the secondary... A good hitter who plays the run well... Needs to work on his pass defense... Tough and aggressive... Has good size and speed... Has a great attitude and is a good leader... Played tailback on the junior varsity as a freshman... Also got into two varsity games that year... Was moved to defense in the spring of 1982... Played tailback and outside linebacker at Mineola High School... Was hampered most of his senior season there by a sprained ankle... Still won all-county, all-state and All-Long Island honors for the second straight year... Also named to Centenary Prep All-America and Academic All-America teams... Selected a National Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete... Earned three letters in football and seven in track... His father is a minister... An industrial relations major... Born December 9, 1962.

C.A. Brooks
Offensive Guard
6-4, 255, Sophomore
Cincinnati, Ohio

Won the starting right guard job with a fine showing in spring practice... Faces a challenge from last year's starter, Willy Austin, this fall... However, has the ability to keep the job and develop into an outstanding offensive lineman... Came to Carolina in 1982 as a 220-pound guard... Has worked hard in the weight room to gain the necessary weight to play... Also has gotten stronger with that work... Tough and physical... A very intense competitor... Hard-nosed and determined... Consistent and always gives a tremendous effort... Comes early to practice and stays late to improve... Has excellent knowledge of the game... Was red-shirted in 1982 and then saw spot action last fall... Played well at Georgia Tech after Greg Naron suffered an injury... Got enough playing time to earn a letter... A starter at guard on Moeller High's 12-1 team in 1981 which was the Ohio 3-A runner-up... All-league performer there... Also lettered in track... Captain of the track team as a senior and set a Moeller high jump record of 6-6... His father, Charles, played football at Memphis State in the early 1960's... Majoring in geology... Born December 4, 1963.

Ernie Brooks
Defensive Back
6-0, 182, Freshman
Covington, Va.

Good athlete who is eventually going to be a prominent player, perhaps as soon as this fall... Moves well in the secondary... Has good ball skills... Runs well and also has good quickness... Needs to improve his intensity and toughness... Listed as one of the reserves at right cornerback heading into the fall, but is capable of earning playing time... Red-shirted last season... Was a three-sport standout at Alleghany County High School... Won four letters in football, basketball and baseball... Played wide receiver there as a freshman and sophomore, quarterback as a junior and halfback as a senior... A safety all four seasons... Played on three district championship teams... Missed four games in his senior season with an arm injury, but still won all-district, all-region and all-area honors... Also was all-area and all-district as a sophomore and junior... All-area selection in basketball and baseball for four straight years... Led the state of Virginia in scoring as a basketball senior, averaging 32 points a game... Enrolled in Carolina's General College... Born May 3, 1964.

26

Ed Brown
Defensive Back
6-1, 184, Senior
Fuquay-Varina, N.C.

Two-year letterman in the secondary... Listed as a backup at strong safety... Also capable of playing cornerback... A good team player... Tough and has a great attitude... Has been a very important member of Carolina's special teams for the past two seasons... A hard-nosed player who should see action in that area again this fall... Coachable and a hard worker... Played safety and running back at Fuquay-Varina High School... Gained 1,204 yards as a senior there, scored 86 points and had four interceptions... All-East, all-state, all-metro and all-conference... Wake County 2-A Player of the Year as a junior and senior... Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... Earned four letters in football and track and three in basketball and baseball... Attended Boys' State... A Morehead Scholarship nominee... Majoring in industrial relations... Born October 31, 1962.

Bill Bumgarner
Defensive Tackle
6-5, 256, Junior
High Point, N.C.

A question mark because of a shoulder injury that has kept him out of action for the last year... Came to Carolina in 1981... Played on the jayvees that season and also saw some varsity action... Was used at both outside linebacker and tackle... Was the primary backup to All-America tackle William Fuller in 1982... Had a good season, excelling on special teams... However, injured his shoulder in the spring of 1983 and has not played since... Saw no contact work last spring although he did stay in shape by participating in some agility drills... Doctors believe he will be ready to go this fall... His return would be a big boost to the Tar Heel defense... Speed and competitiveness make him an excellent pass rusher... A very physical and intense player... Came to Carolina after a great career at High Point Central High School... Won all-state honors as a senior... Division Eight Player of the Year and team captain... Played on a state 4-A championship team as a junior... Selected for the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... Member of the National Honor Society... His dad, Dwight, was a third-team All-America at Duke in 1960... Bill's brother, Tim, was an offensive lineman for the Blue Devils two seasons ago... An industrial relations major... Born August 24, 1963.

Danny Burmeister
Wide Receiver
6-2, 202, Sophomore
Oakton, Va.

Missed all of the 1983 season after breaking a leg the previous spring... Had been red-shirted in 1982... Returned to practice last spring and began to work himself back into form... Goes into the fall as a reserve flanker, but is also capable of playing split end... Earned four football letters at Oakton High and three each in basketball and track... A starter at wingback and free safety, he set school records for touchdowns with 23 and interceptions with 15... All-district, all-metro, all-region and all-state... Selected to the Parade All-America team as a defensive back and to the team picked by the National High School Coaches Association as a wide receiver... Was a three-year starter in basketball and team captain as a senior... Regional 100 and 200-meter champ as a sophomore and junior... His brother, Doug, is a senior fullback at the University of Maryland... Majoring in economics... Born September 13, 1963.

97

Ron Burton
Outside Linebacker
6-1, 235, Sophomore
Richmond, Va.

One of the backups at outside linebacker... Has the ability to be a good player... However, his progress has been slowed by injuries... Lettered as a special teams player in 1982 and showed fine potential... Tore upper-arm muscles in his right arm in the off-season and missed all of the 1983 spring practice and fall season... Has worked hard to get back into shape, going through an extensive rehabilitation program... Was hampered at times last spring by small, nagging injuries... Has the physical tools to play... Lack of experience is a problem... A hard worker who has a lot of natural ability... Strong and explosive... Has good speed and quickness... Played on teams at Highland Springs High School which won two district championships and a regional title in his senior year... Outside linebacker on defense and fullback/tight end on offense... Caught seven touchdown passes as a tight end and rushed for five as a fullback... Also had four pass interceptions... All-metro, all-region and all-district on both offense and defense... All-state linebacker... Also won two letters in basketball... Majoring in industrial relations... Born May 2, 1964.

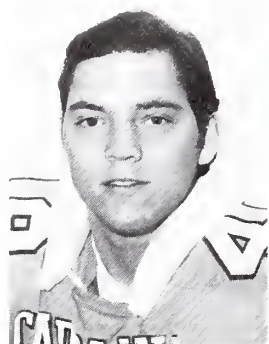

58

Carl Carr
Linebacker
6-3, 214, Junior
Alexandria, Va.

Goes into the fall as a starter at linebacker after playing in a reserve role at this position for two years... Last spring was his best since he's been at Carolina... Worked hard in the off-season on his flexibility... That has made him a better linebacker... Best asset is his speed... Has good lateral movement... Gets to the outside very quickly... Does a good job of defending against the pass... An intense player who wants to learn... Works extremely hard on the field trying to improve... Has lettered in each of his first two years at Carolina... In addition to seeing action at linebacker, he has also been a good special teams player... Twice an all-metro linebacker at T.C. Williams High... Averaged 14 tackles a game as a senior... Had four interceptions, including a 72-yard return for a touchdown... All-state and all-district... Named to the Roanoke Times' Top Five in Virginia... Selected to the All-America teams picked by Parade, the National High School Coaches Association and Adidas... Lettered three times in football and track... Undecided on an academic major... Born March 26, 1964.

40

Steve Carter
Defensive Back
5-9, 173, Sophomore
Tabor City, N.C.

Came out on his own last fall without a scholarship... Did a good job as a member of the scout team... Made some improvement in the spring... Has a good attitude... A backup at right cornerback... Played at Tabor City High School.

64

David Cassady
Offensive Guard
6-3, 250, Freshman
Dumfries, Va.

The number two right guard.. Should see action in his backup role this fall... Played defense during a red-shirt freshman season last year... Shifted to offense in the spring... Caught on to the offensive system very quickly... Strong and has good toughness... Dedicated and wants to play... Gives everything he's got on every play... Came to Carolina from a fine program at Potomac High School... Played on two district championship teams there... His team was 17-2-2 in his final two seasons... Won three letters at defensive tackle and running back... Team captain as a senior... Two-time all-district choice... Won one letter each in basketball and wrestling... Won an individual district wrestling title as a senior... Enrolled in Carolina's General College... Born January 29, 1965.

34

Eddie Colson
Fullback
5-11, 217, Senior
Jacksonville, N.C.

One of the most under-rated players in the Atlantic Coast Conference... An outstanding, all-around back whose play has simply been over-shadowed by that of Tar Heel tailbacks Kelvin Bryant, Tyrone Anthony and Ethan Horton... However, his blocking has been a major factor in those tailbacks compiling 1,000-yard seasons in the past two years... Goes into the fall after an excellent spring... A sound blocker in the past, he improved even more in the off-season work... Has always had a great running style... Stays low and bounces off tacklers... Has unusual speed and quickness for a fullback... A great open-field runner... Gifted enough to play tailback... Has good agility, strength and size... Capable of getting the extra yard when it's needed... Also a good receiver... Did a fine job as a leader in the spring... Set a good example for the younger players... Had a good season in 1983... Carolina's third-leading rusher with 425 yards... Averaged 5.4 yards per carry... Top rushing performance of the season was a 119-yard effort against Wake Forest... His blocking also helped Anthony and Horton to 100-yard days that afternoon as the Tar Heels put three backs over 100 yards for the first time in school history... Carried 12 times for 63 yards against Memphis State, his second best total of the year and of his career... Scored three touchdowns—on a four-yard reception and a 12-yard run against Wake Forest and on a six-yard run at N.C. State... Finished the season with 11 catches.

Had alternated with James Jones at fullback in 1982 before winning the starting spot last year... The Tar Heels' fourth-leading rusher as a sophomore with 255 yards on 49 carries, an average of 5.2 per rush... Also caught eight passes that season, including one for 22 yards and a touchdown against Bowling Green... Top rushing performance was 54 yards on 11 carries against Army... Earned a starting assignment against Texas in the Sun Bowl and has kept the job ever since... Was great against the Longhorns with 38 yards on eight carries... His tough second-half running in that game complemented that of Horton as Carolina came from behind to defeat Texas, 26-10... Had seen only spot action as a freshman, getting most of his playing time in jayvee games... Came to Carolina after a brilliant career at Jacksonville High School... Led his team to the state championship game as a senior... Gained 221 yards on 44 carries in the state semi-finals... Finished the year with 1,801 yards and 19 touchdowns... Scored 17 TDs as a junior while rushing for 1,342 yards... Had 752 yards as a sophomore for a three-year total of 3,895... County Player of the Year as a junior and senior... Played in the Shrine Bowl and earned all-state honors... Also lettered in baseball and basketball... Member of the National Honor Society... His father is a minister... Majoring in recreation... Born September 8, 1963.

Norris Davis
Wide Receiver
6-1, 203, Freshman
Reston, Va.

Red-shirt freshman who will get playing time this fall... Came a long way during spring practice... Eventually challenged for a starting job... Goes into the fall as a backup to Earl Winfield at flanker... Has outstanding ability... Big, fast and strong... Possesses excellent work habits... Going to be a fine player... Just needs experience... A candidate to handle kickoff returns this fall... Had four catches in the spring game, one of them for 12 yards and a touchdown... Named Northern Virginia's Player of the Year by the D.C. Touchdown Club as a senior at South Lakes High School... Won two letters as a wide receiver and defensive back... All-metro, all-region, all-district and all-state as a senior... Caught 24 passes for 580 yards and four touchdowns... Also scored two touchdowns on punt returns, two on kickoff returns and one on a run from scrimmage... Intercepted three passes... Touched the football a total of 56 times and gained 1,100 yards... Also lettered three times in track... Enrolled in the General College at Carolina... Born April 3, 1965.

93

Reuben Davis
Defensive Tackle
6-3, 256, Freshman
Greensboro, N.C.

Ended the spring as a starter at defensive tackle... Did a good job in the off-season work after being red-shirted last year... An extremely good athlete... Physically, he has all the tools to play... Runs well and is very agile... Has good size and strength... Picks up things well... With more repetitions on the practice field and game experience, he could be an outstanding player... A two-way tackle at Grimsley High School... Also played some fullback there... Was in on over 100 tackles as a senior, including 15 quarterback sacks... One of North Carolina's captains in the 1982 Shrine Bowl... Had 11 tackles in that game... Also selected for the East-West All-Star Game... All-conference and all-metro selection... Named to the Greensboro Daily News All-State Team... Picked to the Roanoke Times' Top Five in North Carolina... Played on a conference championship team as a junior... Also lettered in track... Was the state discus champion as a junior... Hopes to major in RTVMP... Born May 7, 1965.

18

Scott Davis
5-11, 170, Freshman
Atlanta, Ga.

A reserve at left cornerback... Non-scholarship player who came out last fall... Has good speed and a fine attitude... Worked hard in the spring on improving his flexibility and his back-pedal... Still needs some work in those areas... Has good intelligence... Plans to major in business.

37

Derrick Donald
Defensive Back
5-11, 191, Freshman
Lenoir, N.C.

Number two right cornerback on the Tar Heel depth chart... Played tailback last fall during a red-shirt freshman season... Moved to defense in the spring... Got better and better every day he walked on the field... Has great work habits... Has an excellent attitude and gives a solid effort all the time... Wants to play and has the physical tools to do so... Quick and tough... With experience, he's going to be a very good player... Conference player of the year and county player of the year at West Caldwell High School in 1982... All-Piedmont selection... Played fullback, tailback, defensive back and linebacker and also handled the place-kicking... Rushed for 1,056 yards as a senior as his team won its second straight conference championship... Scored 12 touchdowns, made 10 of 14 PATs and booted three of five field goals... Intercepted 10 passes in his last two seasons there... Also won two letters in basketball and three in track... Played on two conference basketball championship teams... Enrolled in Carolina's General College... Born October 19, 1964.

John Duffel
Tailback
5-11, 170, Freshman
Willingboro, N.J.

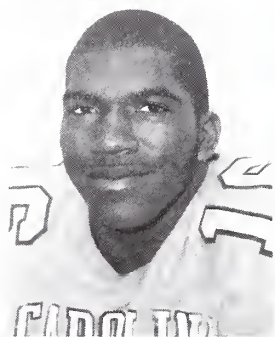

Goes into the fall as Carolina's number three tailback... Moved into that spot after an impressive showing in spring practice... Quick and shifty... Has an ability to evade tacklers that is reminiscent of Amos Lawrence... Has very quick feet... Probably Carolina's fastest back... Tough and has good hands... Doesn't have great size, but is a sound blocker... Has great heart... Will get playing time this fall... With experience, he can be a very good player... Had 57 yards on seven carries in the spring game and scored on a six-yard run... Was red-shirted last fall... Played tailback, defensive back and wide receiver at Fork Union Military Academy and Willingboro High School... All-conference and all-county in high school... Rushed for 1,302 yards and 13 touchdowns as a senior... Also had 12 pass receptions, including three for scores... Lettered three times in football and three times in track... Ran sprints and competed in the long jump... Plans to major in RTVMP... Born November 25, 1963.

Greg Estes
Linebacker
5-10, 212, Freshman
Granite Falls, N.C.

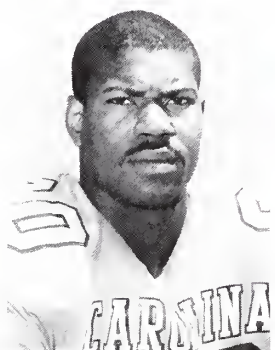

Non-scholarship player who is one of the backups at linebacker... Came out last fall, but did not see any action and still has four years of eligibility... Used at several different positions on the scout team last season and is valuable because of that versatility... Intense and a hard worker... Always gives a good effort... Got extra work in the spring because of injuries to other linebackers... Lack of size is his biggest drawback... Played linebacker, tight end and fullback at West Caldwell High... All-county as a sophomore, junior and senior... All-Piedmont and all-conference in each of his last two years... Wants to major in business... Born December 18, 1964.

Howard Feggins
Defensive Back
5-9, 196, Freshman
South Hill, Va.

Heads into the fall as one of the reserves at strong safety... Possesses excellent speed and a great attitude... Tough and hard-nosed... Needs to get a better understanding of coverages... Should make a contribution to the team this fall... Could be a special teams player... Red-shirted in his freshman season last year... A tailback and cornerback at Park View High School... Averaged eight yards a carry as a senior, scored 20 touchdowns and intercepted two passes... All-district on both offense and defense as a junior and senior... All-region defensive back as a senior... Selected to Who's Who in High School Football... Played on a district championship team in 1982... Won three football letters and four in track... Set his school's shot put record and ran the sprints... Enrolled in the General College... Born May 6, 1965.

80

Arnold Franklin
Tight End
6-3, 241, Junior
Lincoln Heights, Ohio

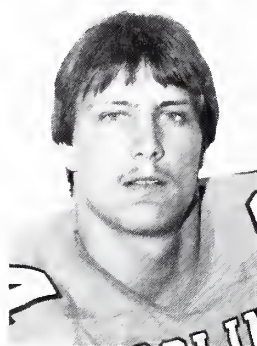

A strong candidate for all-star honors in his junior season... Developed into one of the best players in the Atlantic Coast Conference last year... Finished 10th in the ACC in receiving and second at Carolina with 25 catches for 271 yards (10.8) and one touchdown... The TD came on a five-yard pass against Duke... The 25 receptions are the most ever by a Tar Heel sophomore... That came just one season after Franklin had tied the freshman pass-catching record with 10 receptions... Was sensational at Maryland with six catches for 83 yards, including a 31-yard grab... Those six catches equalled the most ever by a Carolina player against Maryland... Had played a great deal as a freshman in 1982... Alternated with Doug Sickels at that position early in the season, but then moved into the starting lineup late in the year... Had 10 catches for 112 yards, including a three-yard scoring reception at Clemson... Set a school freshman record with five catches in a single game against Virginia... Named ACC Rookie of the Week for that performance... Selected to the Freshman All-America team picked by The Football News.

A good blocker as a freshman, he was even better last fall... Has the tools to be one of the best blockers in the game... Big and strong... Comes off the ball well... An intelligent player who is a good technician... A tough competitor who catches the ball well in crowds... Is still improving as a receiver... Is tough to bring down once he gets the football... Capable of being the complete tight end... Practiced all spring despite having a cast on one of his thumbs... Came to Carolina after being named Ohio Lineman of the Year at Princeton High School in 1981... Played tight end, linebacker and running back there... Caught 25 passes as a senior for 479 yards and eight touchdowns... Played on teams which were 9-1 and third in the state, 9-2 and second in the state and 8-2 and seventh in the state... All three won conference championships... Named Cincinnati's Player of the Year in 1981 by the Cincinnati Enquirer and the Cincinnati Post... All-league, all-city and all-state... All-America selection by Parade Magazine, the National High School Coaches Association and Adidas... Also lettered three times in basketball... An industrial relations major... Born December 16, 1963.

Joel Freeze
Outside Linebacker
6-2, 210, Freshman
Rockville, Md.

An exciting young player with great promise... Started off the spring in sensational fashion after being red-shirted last fall... Did an outstanding job until being slowed by injury... In the fight for the starting spot opposite Micah Moon at this position... Tough and aggressive... Plays with reckless abandon... Was an outside linebacker and tight end at Richard Montgomery High School... Two-time all-county selection at both positions... All-metro on offense as a senior... Caught 35 passes for 544 yards and five touchdowns... Led his team in tackles with 95 first hits and 49 assists... Played on a Class A state championship team as a junior... Starred in the state semi-finals that year with the winning touchdown catch in a 13-10 victory and two interceptions... Lettered three times in football and track... Competed in the discus, shot and 880... Enrolled in Carolina's General College... Wants to major in business... Born January 11, 1965.

Lee Gliarmis
Kicking Specialist
5-10, 177, Sophomore
Wilson, N.C.

Appeared in just one game last season... Successfully converted a 37-yard field goal attempt against William and Mary... Because of Brooks Barwick's presence, he saw no other action... Now with Barwick gone, Gliarmis rates as one of the leading contenders for the field goal and PAT chores... Also is a possibility to handle kickoffs... Came to Carolina in 1982, but was red-shirted... Has all the tools to be a fine college kicker... A conventional kicker with a very good leg... Accurate up to about 48 or 49 yards... Gets great initial height on the ball... Good all-around athlete... Booted 27 career field goals at Fike High School... Eight of those were over 40 yards, including a 49-yarder... Made seven of 12 field goals as a senior there and 19 of 22 PATs... Once kicked four field goals in a game... Twice an all-conference and All-East choice and three times an all-area selection... Named to the Associated Press all-state team twice... Parade All-America... Kicked two field goals in the 1981 Shrine Bowl... Lettered three times in football and tennis... His father, Lee, played basketball and baseball at Carolina in the mid-Forties... Had a brother, Socrates, who was a kicker at East Carolina in the late 1970's... Majoring in RTVMP... Born November 28, 1963.

Hiram Godwin
Fullback
6-1, 211, Junior
Camden, N.C.

Non-scholarship player who has developed into a good back... Has the size and speed to play either tailback or fullback... A good utility man in the backfield because of that versatility... Listed as one of the fullback reserves on the depth chart... However, he also saw action at tailback in the spring... Had just one carry last season, gaining four yards... Has gained strength since last fall... Showed improved toughness in the spring... A hard worker who wants to be successful... A competitor who could be a good special teams player... Majoring in mathematics.

Robert Gore
Outside Linebacker
5-11, 178, Sophomore
Fayetteville, N.C.

One of the surprises of spring practice... Non-scholarship player who was a defensive back last fall... Moved to outside linebacker in the spring and did an outstanding job... Doesn't have great physical tools, but has heart and tremendous determination... Possesses great work habits and a fine attitude... Wants to make a contribution in any way he can... A good hitter who could play on special teams... Played strong safety at Terry Sanford High School... All-conference, all-city and all-county as a senior... His team was the state 4-A runnerup in his junior year with a 13-1 record... Current Carolina teammate Tim Morrison was also on that squad... Wants to major in business... Born December 12, 1964.

Dave Graham
Fullback
5-9, 213, Junior
Maxton, N.C.

Walk-on who is a reserve at fullback... Was injured in the spring and is hard to evaluate because of that... Has good strength... Lack of experience puts him behind the other fullbacks... Fullback and line-backer at Scotland High School... One of his teammates there was current Carolina teammate Moses Watson... An all-conference wrestler at Scotland... Was runner-up in a teen-age national power-lifting contest... Majoring in chemistry and biology... Wants to be a doctor... Born August 3, 1964.

A Ram For a Mascot?

For almost 60 years the mascot of North Carolina's football team has been a ram. The current sideline star for the Tar Heels is Rameses IX.

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

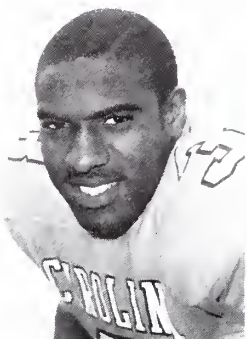

From that November afternoon in 1924, the deeds and experiences of Rameses I and his successors have been the basis for countless anecdotes.

For instance, there was Rameses I making his first indoor appearance. Huggins was again the originator of the idea, the Tin Can was the scribe and a basketball game was the event.

A theatrical debut with bright lights and a chorus was planned for the ram's introduction before a capacity audience. But when Rameses was led to midcourt at halftime, it became evident that he was not housebroken. In addition to being his first, that was also Rameses' last basketball game.

Tar Heel rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

Generally, the highlight of each season for Rameses is trying to outwit Duke students who always try to ram-nap him before the traditional big game with the Blue Devils.

Larry Griffin
Wide Receiver
6-1, 189, Junior
Chesapeake, Va.

A key performer in the Carolina passing game... Goes into his junior season with 26 career catches for 421 yards and seven touchdowns... That's an average of 16.2 yards a catch... Alternated with Earl Winfield and Mark Smith last year, playing both split end and flanker... That versatility got him about as much playing time as the two starters... Made 16 catches for 230 yards (14.4) and four touchdowns... Had five catches for 71 yards against William and Mary, including an 11-yarder for a TD... Other scoring catches covered 27 yards against Miami, 28 yards against Georgia Tech and 10 yards against Maryland... His touchdown against the Terps came on a perfectly-executed timing pattern, a diving catch in the corner of the end zone... Bounced back from a knee injury to have that solid sophomore season... Tore muscles in his knee in pre-season practice and missed all of the 1982 campaign... As a freshman in 1981, he was one of the team's biggest surprises... Did an excellent job at flanker in his first year at that position... Came to Carolina as a quarterback, but asked to be moved to flanker in pre-season practice... Although hampered by nagging injuries the last half of the season, he still caught 10 passes for 191 yards and three touchdowns... The 10 catches was a school record for a freshman (since equalled by Winfield and Arnold Franklin)... His scoring plays covered 16 yards against Miami, 25 against Wake Forest and 19 against South Carolina... Griffin and Ethan Horton were voted the team's top freshman players.

Was a starter at split end all of last spring until the final week of practice... Missed that last week of work with an ankle injury... Had a good spring until that injury... Developed into more of a deep threat... An intelligent receiver... A craftsman in that he runs his routes well and has a good awareness of coverages... Has excellent hands... A clutch receiver who will make the big play... Also a tough blocker... Needs to be more of a leader because of the inexperience at this position... Listed as the number two split end, but will get a great deal of playing time... An All-Eastern Region, all-city, all-district and all-metro quarterback at Great Bridge High School... Threw for 18 touchdowns and scored 10 as a two-year starter there... Played on two district championship teams... Won two letters in football, basketball and baseball... His major is industrial relations... Born January 11, 1963.

Tripp Hardy
Tight End
6-0, 210, Freshman
Roswell, Ga.

Non-scholarship player who is being counted on a great deal... Will fill an important role in Carolina's short-yardage attack as a third tight end or wingback... Intelligent and aggressive... Has good hands... Will play on special teams... Red-shirted as a freshman last fall... A linebacker and tight end at Milton High School... An all-county and all-region performer... A pre-med student... Born April 9, 1965.

Steve Hendrickson
Defensive Back
5-11, 173, Senior
Danville, Va.

An important member of Carolina's secondary... Started at free safety in both 1982 and 1983... Faces a stiff challenge for that position this fall from Tim Morrison, the starter at the end of spring practice... Capable of winning the job back in pre-season drills... Will play a lot anyway whether he starts or not... Finished ninth on the team in tackles last year with 26 solo hits and 18 assists... Had interceptions against South Carolina and Clemson... Also had seven solo tackles and five assists against Clemson... Led the Tar Heels in interceptions as a sophomore with three... Those came against Pittsburgh, Georgia Tech and Virginia... Had seen considerable action as a freshman... Played as Carolina's nickel back and as a reserve at free safety... If he's not in the starting lineup this fall, he will again play as the nickel back... Smart player who doesn't make a lot of mistakes... Has good instincts and an understanding of defensive concepts... Wherever he is on the field, he can be counted on to do what he's supposed to do... Hard worker... Has worked to improve his toughness and quickness... Was a three-year secondary starter at George Washington High School... Had eight career interceptions there... All-South, all-state and honorable mention All-America as a senior... His teams won three straight Western District championships and had a three-year regular-season record of 27-1... Played in the East-West All-Star Game... Vice-president of the National Honor Society... Graduated fourth in his class with a 96.4 average... Fine student in chemistry... Has made the All-Atlantic Coast Conference Academic Team for each of the past two seasons... Hopes to go to medical school... Born December 18, 1962.

Ethan Horton
Tailback
6-4, 218, Senior
Kannapolis, N.C.

One of the premier players in college football... Should be a leading candidate for All-America honors in his senior season... Led the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing last season and finished 17th nationally... Gained 1,107 yards despite the fact he split time at tailback with Tyrone Anthony... Averaged 100.6 yards a game and 5.5 yards a rush on his 200 carries... With Anthony now in the pros, Horton's number of rushes and yardage total should increase... All-ACC selection... Third-team All-America choice by The Football News... Started Carolina's first five games and came on in relief of Anthony in the last six... Had seven 100-yard performances, topped by a 141-yard effort against William and Mary... Horton, Anthony and Eddie Colson were all over 100 yards against Wake Forest, the first time in history three Tar Heel backs have rushed for 100 yards in the same game... Scored eight touchdowns... Longest run of the season was a 52-yard sprint at Georgia Tech... Suffered a knee injury in the closing seconds at Maryland and underwent arthroscopic surgery for torn cartilage the following day... Came back to play six days later against Clemson, gaining 47 yards on 12 carries... Set up Carolina's winning touchdown in a 34-27 victory over Duke with sensational fourth-quarter running... It was his tackle-busting 26-yard gallop on a fourth-and-one at the Duke 32 which was the key play in the winning drive... Finished with 107 yards in that season finale to win the league rushing crown... His 1,107 yards was the sixth-highest single-season rushing total ever at Carolina... Finished eighth in the conference in total offense... Heads into his senior season with a career total of 1,827 yards, the ninth-highest figure in school history... Is also 18th in career scoring with 108 points... Should move into the top 10 in scoring by the end of 1984 and would pass Charlie Justice for fifth place in rushing with another 1,000-yard season... Has now had eleven 100-yard rushing days in his career... The only Carolina players with more are Amos Lawrence, Kelvin Bryant, Don McCauley, Mike Voight and Justice.

A former high school quarterback, Horton was a backup to Bryant in 1982... Carolina's third-leading rusher that season with 576 yards... Was second on the team in scoring with nine touchdowns... Started against Army, Georgia Tech and Wake Forest that season because of an ankle injury suffered by Bryant... Rushed for a career-high 201 yards against Vanderbilt after Bryant was injured early in the game... Had a 61-yard run against the Commodores, the longest of his career... Came in after Bryant was injured against Texas in the Sun Bowl and won MVP honors, rushing for 119 yards and scoring on a three-yard run... All of that yardage came in the second half of play as Carolina came from behind for a 26-10 victory... That marked Horton's second straight star performance in a bowl game... He and Bryant had been co-MVPs in the 1981 Gator Bowl... Rushed for 144 yards on 27 carries in that game against Arkansas... Scored two touchdowns on runs of one and four yards... Saw considerable action that night because Bryant was suffering from leg cramps... Last year was named to the Gator Bowl's all-time all-star team... First came to prominence late in his freshman season after injuries struck down Bryant and Anthony... A third-string quarterback at the time, Horton was shifted to tailback for a big game at Maryland... With only four days of practice, he gained 94 yards on 26 carries against a rugged Terp defense... Scored the Tar Heels' first touchdown that day on a one-yard plunge... ACC Rookie of the Week for that performance... Saw limited action the rest of the season as Bryant returned to the lineup... Was given an opportunity to return to quarterback in the spring of 1982, but chose to remain at tailback... Now rates as one of the best runners in the game and with only three years of experience at tailback, he's still getting better.

Showed improvement during spring practice... Was much quicker and stronger... A big, powerful football player... Excellent at breaking tackles... Also has the speed to be a breakaway threat... Very durable... Gets better the more he carries the ball... An extraordinary talent who makes things happen... Tough and a fine blocker, considering most of his career has been spent at quarterback... Dedicated... Practices like he plays... Goes full speed every day... Great all-around athlete... Could play almost any position on the football team... Also is an outstanding leader.

Had a great prep career at A.L. Brown High... Named to every all-state team as a senior... Selected to Centenary, Adidas and Carnation All-America squads... Guided his teams to records of 7-3, 11-1 and 9-1 as a wishbone quarterback... Co-captain and most valuable player in the Shrine Bowl... Also played in the East-West All-Star Game... Named "Newsmaker of the Year" for 1983 by his hometown paper, The Daily Independent... Majoring in RTVMP... Born December 19, 1962.

School Colors

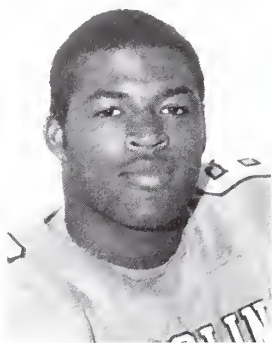

The adoption of light blue and white as the University of North Carolina's colors dates back to the 19th Century.

When the University reopened following the War Between the States most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions such as commencement exercises, the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalia and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body and not just one of the societies.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established and students began accompanying teams to other colleges or cities, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the University, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but in the University student body.

The light blue worn by Tar Heel students today has many different names. It is called simply light blue, powder blue, sky blue or Columbia Blue among other things. Generally, however, it is just referred to as Carolina Blue. The accomplishments of Tar Heel athletes have made the color synonymous with the University so it now simply bears its name.

William Humes
Tailback
6-0, 194, Sophomore
Asheville, N.C.

Number two tailback behind Ethan Horton after a fine freshman season... Carolina's fourth-leading rusher last fall with 254 yards on 51 carries (5.0 per rush)... Played behind Horton and Tyrone Anthony... Saw action in the first six games, but suffered a knee injury against Wake Forest and missed the rest of the season... Underwent arthroscopic surgery and was full speed in the spring... Top performance of 1983 was a 161-yard effort against Miami on 26 carries... Scored his only touchdown of the year in that game on a 10-yard run... Had a 42-yard run against the Redskins, his longest of the season... His 161 yards was the most by a Tar Heel freshman since Amos Lawrence had an Atlantic Coast Conference-record 286 at Virginia in 1977... Has the potential to be an outstanding back... Has all the tools needed... A smooth and deceptive runner... Has good speed and great instincts... Reads blocks well... A fine receiver... Just lacks experience and the confidence that comes with it... Two-time high school All-America... Named to the Centenary team as a junior and to the team picked by the National High School Coaches Association as a senior... Tailback, linebacker and defensive back at Clyde A. Erwin High School... All-conference and all-county as both a junior and senior... All-state as a senior... Voted Western North Carolina's Back of the Year in 1982... Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... Rushed for 1,532 yards and scored 33 touchdowns in his senior year... Had gained 1,682 yards and scored 26 times in 1981... Added six more TDs that year in the state playoffs as his team finished state 3-A runner-up... Had three-year totals of 4,124 yards rushing, 75 touchdowns and 19 interceptions... Won three letters in football, four in baseball and two each in track and basketball... Two-time all-conference baseball player... He competed in baseball at the National Sports Festival in 1983... His father, William, Sr., competed in football, baseball and track at Miles College in Alabama and then played in the Chicago Cubs' farm system for a while... Enrolled in Carolina's General College... Interested in majoring in business... Born March 8, 1965.

Kim Islami
Nose Guard
5-10, 233, Freshman
Livingston, N.J.

Non-scholarship player... One of the reserves at this position... Came out last fall and worked with the scout team... Doesn't have all the talent of some other nose guards, but is a hard worker... Needs to improve speed and strength... Lack of experience is a problem right now.

Barry James
Defensive Back
5-10, 180, Senior
Middletown, Ohio

Carolina's starting strong safety... After playing as a backup to Willie Harris at this spot for two years, he proved in the spring he can handle the starting assignment... Got better and better throughout the spring... Seemed to gain more confidence with each practice session... A good all-around athlete... Runs well... A tough hitter who is excellent against the run... Needs to improve his ball skills... Has been a good special teams player in his first three years in Chapel Hill... Two-year starter at linebacker and wide receiver at Middletown High School... Won three letters... Had one game where he made 15 solo tackles and blocked a punt with which he scored... Two-year starter in basketball and also lettered twice in track... Ran the final leg on the Ohio state championship 880 relay team... Won All-America honors in track... Majoring in recreation... Born November 15, 1961.

Larry James
Defensive Back
5-10, 183, Senior
Middletown, Ohio

One of the veterans on defense... Started at left cornerback last season after splitting time with Greg Poole at that position in 1982... Really played well the final four games last year... Seemed to finally get a complete idea of what the position is all about... May have been Carolina's most consistent defensive back down the stretch... Had six solo tackles and one assist against Clemson and eight tackles and one assist against Duke... Two of his tackles against the Blue Devils were for losses... Finished the regular season with 41 solo tackles and 12 assists... Then had an interception in the Peach Bowl... Had opened 1981 as a backup at left corner... However, was forced into action when Poole pulled a hamstring... Played a great deal, making 32 tackles and assisting on 13 others... Had played mainly on special teams as a freshman... Recovered a fumbled punt at the Maryland 20-yard line that year to set up the winning touchdown against the Terps... That play came with just 1:26 left in the game and the score tied... Also recovered a fumbled punt in the Gator Bowl to set up Carolina's first TD against Arkansas... Has good overall athletic ability... Plays with intensity... Tough and aggressive... Runs well... Needs to improve his ball skills... Like his twin brother, Barry, a three-sport star at Middletown High School... Ran track and played football and basketball... Nose guard and wide receiver in football... Ran on a state championship 440 relay team and on a district championship mile relay team... An industrial relations major... Born November 15, 1961.

Darryl Johnson
Defensive Back
5-11, 184, Senior
Charlotte, N.C.

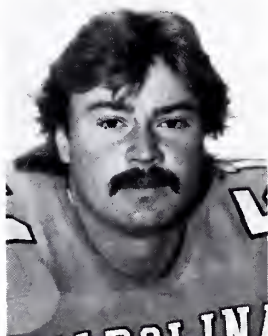

Listed as a backup at left cornerback, but has the versatility to also see action at safety... Might have been higher on the depth chart, but missed spring practice with a broken arm... That injury had been sustained in preparations for the Peach Bowl... A good special teams player... Fine athlete with a great attitude... Came to Carolina without a scholarship, but could make major contributions this fall... Tough and smart... Has a good understanding of defensive concepts... Most of his playing time has come on special teams and as a nickel back in passing situations... A member of the Carolina bowling club... Played at West Mecklinburg High School... Majoring in art.

72

Mike Johnson
Defensive Tackle
6-4, 244, Sophomore
Dover, Del.

In the fight for playing time at defensive tackle... Saw reserve action behind All-America William Fuller last fall after being red-shirted in 1982... Number three right tackle going into the new season, but could move up on the depth chart... Made good progress in the spring... Was a first-teamer at times during the off-season work... Does a good job of rushing the passer... Has fine size and runs well... Very intense and conscientious... Wants to excel... Needs experience and should get it this year... Offensive and defensive tackle at Dover High School... Earned all-state honors on defense... Selected for the Delaware High School All-Star Game... Has a twin sister who is on a track scholarship at Virginia... Majoring in art... Born September 29, 1964.

51

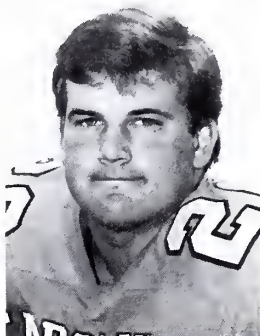

Brian Johnston
Defensive Tackle
6-3, 279, Senior
Highland, Md.

Only returning starter in Carolina's front five... Has the ability and experience to give the Tar Heels solid play at right tackle... Could contend for All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors... Made 22 solo tackles and assisted on 17 others last season... Only had two sacks, but did force nine hurried throws with his pass rush... Will be counted on heavily for leadership this fall... Did a good job in the spring work although he was bothered somewhat by nagging injuries... Hard worker on the practice field and in off-season training... Has gained 20 pounds since last year... Has managed to build himself up without losing speed... Good athlete with great quickness... Tough and aggressive with excellent upper body strength... An intense competitor... Hard-nosed and physical... Smart player who is aware of what's happening on the field at all times... Has matured into a solid, all-around player.

Came to Carolina in 1980, but missed the entire season with a hernia... Got a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility... Opened the 1981 season as a backup center... Started the last three games of the year after an injury to starter Steve McGrew... Was switched to defense the following spring... Did a good job in a backup defensive tackle role in early 1982... However, had to be moved back to center after McGrew tore knee ligaments at Wake Forest and was lost for the season... Started the final seven games of the season at center and did a fine job... Although he showed all-star capabilities in that stretch at center, he went back to defense in the spring of 1983... Teammed with All-America William Fuller to give the Tar Heels fine play at the tackle spots last fall.

Defensive tackle and offensive guard at Glenelg High School... All-metro performer in the Baltimore area... Played on county championship teams in 1977 and 1979... Lettered three times in football, twice in track and once in basketball and wrestling... RTVMP major... Born November 26, 1962.

Jim Koman
Defensive Back
5-10, 173, Junior
St. Louis, Mo.

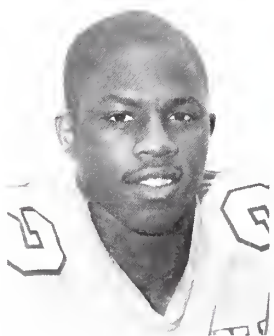

A backup at right cornerback... Non-scholarship player who came out on his own last fall... Tough and has a good attitude... Played tailback, quarterback and defensive back at John Burroughs High School... All-league, all-district and all-state 2-A performer... His father, Bill, was a star linebacker at Carolina in the 1950's and later was a Pro Bowl selection with the St. Louis Cardinals... An economics major... Born November 18, 1963.

15

Keith Lawrence
Defensive Back
6-2, 202, Freshman
Statesville, N.C.

Number three free safety, but a young player who should see action this fall... Has shown the potential to be a good defensive back... Has excellent range in the secondary... Possesses good ball skills... Has big play capabilities... Needs to improve his tackling... Has a good attitude and is a willing worker... Intercepted a pass in a spring scrimmage in Charlotte... Was red-shirted last fall... Quarterbacked Statesville High School to two straight conference championships and two trips to the state playoffs... Also played defensive back... Had over 1,200 yards of total offense as a senior and scored 11 touchdowns... Once completed six passes against Hickory High for 205 yards and four touchdowns... Played in the Shrine Bowl... Won two letters in football, one in basketball and three in track... In the General College at Carolina... Born July 1, 1964.

Eric Lewis
Wide Receiver
5-9, 171, Freshman
New Bern, N.C.

Young player with fine potential... Red-shirted last season... Started slowly last spring, but finished strong... Now goes into the fall as one of three players battling for the number two position at flanker... Has good ability, but suffers from inconsistency... Experience should help eliminate some of that... Elusive as a receiver... Also a good runner after catching the ball... Has good speed... Aggressive... An excellent return man, he's one of the candidates for the kickoff and punt return jobs... Had eight kickoff returns for 178 yards (a 22.3 average) in Carolina's two spring game-like scrimmages... Lettered in four sports at New Bern High School... Competed in football, basketball, baseball and track... Running back and defensive back in football... Also saw some action at quarterback in a wishbone offense and returned kicks... Gained 2,510 yards in his last two seasons and scored 32 touchdowns... All-East in both football and basketball... Enrolled in the General College at Carolina and hopes to major in industrial relations... Born December 2, 1964.

Ray Littlejohn
Fullback
6-0, 210, Junior
Lincolnton, N.C.

Got some playing time as a backup fullback last season... Battling Brad Lopp for the number two position behind Eddie Colson this year... Gained 90 yards on 15 carries last fall, averaging 6.0 yards a rush... Rushed for 57 yards on eight carries against William and Mary and scored on a three-yard run... Had a 31-yard run in that game, his longest of the season... Originally came to Carolina as a tailback and played that position for the 1981 junior varsity... Also got into a couple of varsity games... Was out of school during the 1982 season... Returned to the squad last fall and was moved to fullback... Worked on improving his blocking last spring... Has good size and speed... Tough and always gives 100 percent... Needs to improve his consistency... A three-year starter at Lincolnton High School as a linebacker and running back... Rushed for over 1,200 yards as a senior, averaging 8.2 yards a carry... Had one game in which he rushed for 250 yards on nine carries... Western Piedmont and Catawba Valley Player of the Year... Played on conference championship teams as a junior and senior... Player of the Year on a conference basketball championship team as a senior... Won three letters in basketball and two in track... Majoring in recreation... Born March 7, 1963.

Brad Lopp
Fullback
6-1, 208, Freshman
Jefferson, N.C.

In contention for the number two fullback job after being red-shirted last year... Did a fine job in spring practice of picking up the Carolina offense after being on the scout field last fall... Has a lot of potential... Fastest of the fullbacks... An exceptional runner, he has the skills to play tailback... Has good leg drive and great acceleration... Also a fine receiver... Enjoys blocking... However, needs more weight and strength to be more effective at it... A team player... A hard worker who loves the game... Biggest drawback is simply a lack of experience... Blue Ridge Conference Player of the Year as a senior at Ashe Central High... Also named Ashe County Player of the Year... A quarterback as a sophomore, he played running back and defensive back as a junior and senior... Also punted and kicked off... Rushed for 1,530 yards and scored 28 touchdowns in his senior year... No 2-A player in the state scored more TDs... Intercepted six passes for a conference championship team... Associated Press and Greensboro Daily News all-state selection... Played in the Shrine Bowl... Two-time all-conference choice in football, basketball and track... Also lettered in baseball... Played on two district championship basketball teams... His grandfather was a four-sport star at Duke in the 1920's... Two uncles played baseball at Carolina in the '30's and another, Billy Myers, played football here in the '40's... His father, William, played freshman football at Carolina in 1958... In Carolina's General College... Interested in majoring in industrial relations... Born December 18, 1964.

David Lowe
Punter
5-11, 197, Senior
Anderson, S.C.

One of the most unique stories in college football... Is 27 years old heading into his senior season... Came to Carolina as a walk-on in the fall of 1981... Had been out of high school six years before enrolling at Chapel Hill... Had been working in that period, but finally decided he needed more education to get a better job... Punted for the junior varsity that fall... Won the varsity punting job in 1982 and performed well... Averaged 39.6 yards a kick... Did a great job against Pittsburgh on national television in his first game... Averaged 42.8 yards on 11 punts against the Panthers... Best average for a day was 44.3 against Vanderbilt on four punts... Had a great day against Maryland... Averaged just 35.6 yards on seven kicks, but the Terps had to take the ball on their own 27, 3, 39, 18, 2, 7 and 24... Over the season had 15 punts roll dead inside the 20... Had punts blocked by N.C. State and Texas in the Sun Bowl... Was beaten out for the punting job by Tommy Barnhardt last year... Did not see any action... Came back, however, to do a great job last spring... In the Tar Heels' two game-type scrimmages, Lowe punted twice for a 44.0 average and seven times for a 46.1 average... Should continue to challenge for the punting job this fall and is also a possibility to handle kickoffs... Has been awarded a scholarship... Offensive guard and defensive tackle at Wren High School... Carolina's only married player... An industrial relations major... Born June 17, 1957.

Mark Maye
Quarterback
6-4, 204, Freshman
Charlotte, N.C.

Goes into the fall as Carolina's number two quarterback... Expected to challenge Kevin Anthony for the starting spot... His progress has been hampered by injuries... Hurt a thumb in the 1983 East-West All-Star Game and missed a great deal of the initial teaching time here... Was red-shirted last fall... Then missed the last three weeks of spring practice with a sprained knee... Only got in two weeks of spring work... Because of that, his experience and exposure to the Carolina system is limited... Compensates for that with tremendous work habits... Also possesses great ability... Throws the ball extremely well... Although he hasn't had as much on-the-field work as needed, he stays on top of things mentally... A great natural talent... A quality person and an excellent student... Will definitely get playing time this fall.

Unanimous selection as North Carolina's High School Player of the Year in 1982... Quarterbacked Charlotte Independence to a 9-2 record and a spot in the state playoffs... Named to the All-America teams picked by Parade Magazine, Carnation, Adidas, Mizlou and the National High School Coaches Association... Also named the NHSCA's Scholar-Athlete of the Year... Attending Carolina on a Morehead Scholarship, the most prestigious academic scholarship awarded by the University... Selected North Carolina's most valuable back in the Shrine Bowl... Completed 29 of 51 passes in that game for 311 yards, setting records for completions and yardage... Completed 132 of 247 passes as a senior for 2,353 yards and 19 touchdowns... Carried the ball 60 times himself for 333 yards and 12 TDs... Averaged 40.4 yards a punt... In a 40-39 win over West Mecklinburg, completed 22 of 34 passes for 481 yards and four touchdowns, including the game-winning pass with 12 seconds to play... That was the sixth-highest passing yardage total in high school history... Threw for 459 yards and two touchdowns in a 49-48 win over South Mecklinburg and added the winning two-point conversion with one second left... Scored three TDs himself in that game... Accounted for 5,106 yards of total offense in just over two seasons... Completed 257 of 491 passes for 4,400 yards and 36 touchdowns... Scored 21 TDs himself... Won three letters in football, basketball and baseball... Two-time all-state basketball choice... His father, Jerry, was a pitcher at Catawba College and in the Minnesota Twins' organization... Enrolled in the General College... Born January 30, 1965.

Noel McEachern
Outside Linebacker
6-3, 205, Freshman
Fayetteville, N.C.

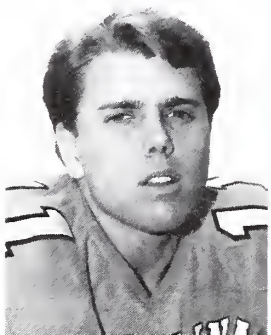

Young prospect who has a bright future... Contending with Joel Freeze for the starting outside linebacker spot opposite Micah Moon... Outstanding athlete who has no experience... Was red-shirted last fall... Did a good job in spring practice... A hard worker who takes great pride in his play... Physically tough... Top asset is probably his speed... Will certainly get playing time this season... An outside linebacker at Pine Forest High School... Named to the all-state teams picked by the Associated Press and the Greensboro Daily News as a senior... All-East, all-county, all-city and all-conference... Selected for the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... Played on an 11-2 conference championship team as a senior... Plans to major in political science... Born December 26, 1964.

Kenny Miller
Wide Receiver
6-2, 202, Freshman
Phoenix, Md.

Outstanding all-around athlete... Should get playing time at flanker in a reserve role this fall... Played quarterback and tailback in spring practice and did a good job at both positions... However, coaches feel he may be more valuable at flanker... Has good hands and fine speed... His skills should give the Tar Heels more freedom in formations because he can do so many things... Red-shirted last fall... Played on the top-ranked high school team in Maryland as both a junior and senior... Helped lead Calvert Hall to a two-year record of 20-2... Quarterback as a junior and first three games of his senior season... Moved to wide receiver after that... Also handled kicking duties... Could be a factor in Carolina's kicking game in the upcoming year... Averaged four catches a game as a senior... Kicked a 43-yard field goal to beat Gilman, 16-13, and give Calvert a tie for the Maryland Scholastic Association championship... Also had a 48-yard field goal against Poly... Named to the Maryland Scholastic All-Star team... All-state selection... Also lettered in baseball and golf... Enrolled in the General College at Carolina... Born May 2, 1964.

Richy Milligan
Quarterback
6-0, 192, Sophomore
Fayetteville, N.C.

A walk-on who is the Tar Heels' number four quarterback... Hard worker... Has a great attitude... Possesses good intelligence... Needs to play with more composure... Quarterbacked Pine Forest High School to the state eastern championship as a senior... Won all-city and all-county honors... Voted his team's top offensive performer... A pre-dental student... Born August 15, 1965.

Micah Moon
Outside Linebacker
6-1, 230, Senior
Altavista, Va.

Another in a long line of brilliant Carolina linebackers... Rates as a strong candidate for All-America honors after a standout junior season... Only Atlantic Coast Conference player named to Playboy's pre-season All-America team... After playing inside linebacker for the past two seasons, he will move to outside linebacker this fall... Shift is being made because of Carolina's inexperience on the outside and to take better advantage of Moon's tremendous athletic ability... Will give the Tar Heels a player in the Lawrence Taylor/Mike Wilcher mold at his new position... Has the same type of physical capabilities as those two former Carolina stars... Showed that last fall in his first year as a starter... Tar Heels' second-leading tackler... Had a team-high 73 solo hits and 27 assists... Had three sacks, two tackles for losses, an interception, two deflected passes, three forced hurries and two fumble recoveries... Played with a painful left wrist the last half of the year... Eventually had to undergo surgery following the season for removal of bone chips... Still, played very well down the stretch... Turned in a sensational performance against Florida State in the Peach Bowl... Was the best player on the field that day with 21 tackles... Named the game's top defensive player by CBS Sports... Made eight solo tackles and assisted on four others in the regular-season finale against Duke... It was his fumble recovery late in the game which set up Carolina's winning fourth-quarter touchdown drive... Also had a sack in that game, deflected one pass and forced a hurried throw on another occasion... Had been in on 18 total hits the previous week at Virginia... Was in on 20 tackles, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass at Georgia Tech... His play was an important factor in Carolina leading the ACC in total defense.

The off-season wrist surgery caused him to miss spring practice... However, he should have no trouble picking up his new outside linebacker responsibilities... After calling the defensive signals last year, he has an excellent knowledge of the game... Has great instincts and is always around the football... Possesses good speed and quickness... Has great leg and upper body strength... Another major asset is his acceleration to the ball... Packs a wallop as a tackler... His tremendous hitting ability, intelligence and speed make him a big-play threat... Should have a better chance to use that big-play ability at this new position... Has a great sense of humor... Keeps things lively with that humor, especially at practice... Serious once the ball is snapped, however, and is all business... Has excellent leadership qualities and is being counted on to be one of the team leaders... Capable of being a super football player.

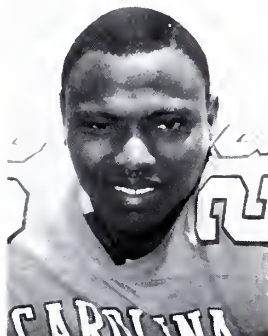

Showed some of that potential during his sophomore season when he played behind Chris Ward, an All-ACC performer and the team MVP, at linebacker... Also saw special teams action and did an excellent job in both roles... Had 19 solo tackles, 15 assists and two sacks... Started the Georgia Tech game because of an injury to Bill Shepard... Was great in the 1982 Sun Bowl game with Texas... Ran for first down yardage from a blocking back position on a fake punt... That kept alive a drive that ended with a Tar Heel field goal... Had four solo tackles and broke up a pass... Also had a jarring tackle which caused a fumble in the Tar Heel end zone, resulting in a Carolina touchdown... That hit against the Longhorns is typical of his playing style.

Was a reserve fullback as a freshman... Saw spot varsity action and played in two jayvee games... Shifted to linebacker after Lee Shaffer was injured late in the year and has been on defense ever since... A running back and linebacker at Altavista High School... Made 85 solo tackles and had 80 assists as a senior there... All-district, all-region and all-state as a linebacker... All-district on offense... Played in the East-West All-Star Game... Won three letters in football and four each in basketball and track... District and regional champion in the triple jump and the 110-yard high hurdles... A recreation major... Born November 15, 1962.

Tim Morrison
Defensive Back
6-1, 189, Junior
Fayetteville, N.C.

Moved from cornerback to free safety in the spring and won a starting position... Seems like a natural at this new spot... Did an outstanding job in the off-season work... Seemed to make big plays every practice session... Could develop into an outstanding player... Has excellent speed and great range... Can make plays all over the field... Tough and a sure tackler... Has good ball skills... Needs to work on communicating at the key free safety position... Saw action as a backup at cornerback last fall... Got more playing time as the season progressed... Was used in passing situations when the Tar Heels brought in extra defensive backs... Had seen some action as a nickel back as a freshman in 1982... Started that season as a wide receiver, but was moved to defense after injuries cut down three cornerbacks... Was occasionally used as a punt return man that year... Had nine returns for 76 yards, averaging 8.4 yards a return... Had a 23-yard return to set up a touchdown at Clemson... Had been a fine return specialist at Terry Sanford High School... Played split end and wing-back there... Caught 43 passes for 955 yards (22.2 yards a reception) and eight touchdowns as a senior... Led his team to a 13-1 record and a spot in the state 4-A championship game... Although his team lost that title game, 27-14, he scored both touchdowns on a 69-yard punt return and an 18-yard catch... All-conference selection as a junior and senior and led the league in receiving both years... All-East and all-state choice... Played in the Shrine Bowl... Lettered twice in football and track and once in basketball and baseball... Majoring in recreation... Born April 3, 1963.

Greg Naron
Offensive Guard
6-5, 270, Senior
Randleman, N.C.

Set to begin his second year as a full-time starter at left guard... Has the talent to contend for all-star honors in his senior season... Started every game last fall and did a good job... Teammed with All-America tackle Brian Blados to give Carolina solid play on the left side of the line... Made constant improvement throughout the year... First came into prominence as a reserve in 1982... Saw a great deal of action that season because of injuries to David Drechsler and Ron Spruill...

Started three regular-season games and in the Sun Bowl against Texas... Did a good job of coming off the bench on those occasions... With a year and a half of experience as a starter, he's being counted on heavily as a leader in the offensive line this fall... Dedicated and a hard worker... Has good initial quickness and runs well... Very good at pulling on sweeps because of his running ability... Explosion coming off the ball has gotten better each year... Fine pass protector... Strong and tough... Quiet off the field, but an aggressive competitor on it... Good practice player... Reminds coaches somewhat of former Carolina All-America guard Ron Wooten... Played defensive tackle as a freshman before being moved to offense in the spring of 1982... Offensive and defensive tackle at Randleman High... Won three letters on teams which compiled an overall record of 25-5-1 and made two trips to the state playoffs... Also won two letters in basketball, one in baseball and four in track... Set school records in the shot and discus... Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... Honor roll student who skipped the first grade... His brother, Joe, is also a Tar Heel offensive lineman... An industrial relations major... Born October 21, 1963.

Joe Naron
Center
6-0, 230, Freshman
Randleman, N.C.

Number three center going into fall practice... Red-shirted as a freshman last year... Determined and a hard worker... Always does the best he can... A good technician who is a quick learner... Needs to continue to develop his strength and quickness... Played offensive and defensive tackle at Randleman High School... Team tri-captain as a senior... Won three letters in football on teams which were 10-2, 13-1 and 13-1... Played on state 2-A championship teams as a junior and senior... Selected to the all-state teams picked by the Greensboro Daily News and the Associated Press... Played in the East-West All-Star Game... Also won three letters in track... His brother, Greg, is also an offensive lineman at Carolina... Enrolled in the General College... Hopes to major in zoology... Born March 30, 1965.

Five Retired Jerseys

Five Carolina football jerseys—numbers 22, 46, 50, 59 and 99—have been retired over the years in honor of the men who wore them.

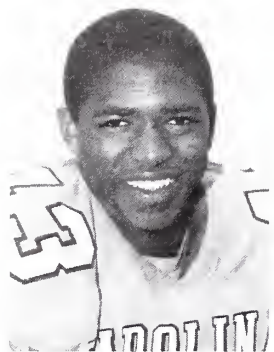

The number 22 was almost as well known as the athlete who wore it—Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice. One of college football's all-time superstars, Justice was an All-America halfback at Carolina from 1946 to 1949. In fact, those years generally are known as simply "The Justice Era" in Chapel Hill.

Carl Snively, Justice's coach, was instrumental in getting number 46 retired. That belonged to Cotton Sutherland, an outstanding back who was killed in an automobile crash while a Carolina Student.

Number 50 was Art Weiner, an All-America end in the late Forties. In 1949 Art caught a school-record 52 passes. He was also a great defensive player.

Another end, Andy Bershak, wore 59. A defensive standout, he was an All-America selection in 1939.

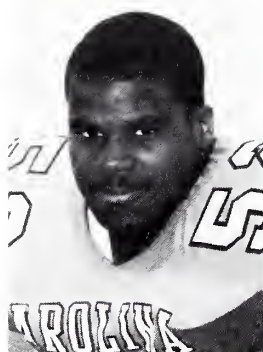

Carolina's first All-America, George Barclay, had the number 99. He was a star guard and earned All-America honors in 1934.

43

Tom Osborne
Defensive Back
5-11, 177, Freshman
Fairfax, Va.

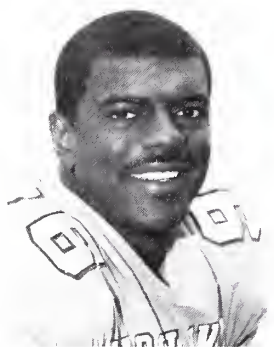

Fine prospect in the secondary... Has the ability to be a very good player... Finished the spring as the chief backup to Larry James at left cornerback... Was red-shirted and saw no action last fall... Has the tools needed by a cornerback... Has good, quick feet and excellent speed... Intelligent and has a great attitude... Has good work habits... An intense competitor who wants to excel... Needs to be a little more physical... Should get playing time this season... Won four letters in football and six in track at Robinson Secondary School... Played running back and defensive back and also returned kicks... Had three interceptions as a senior, including one for a 65-yard touchdown... Returned a punt 55 yards for another TD... All-district selection... Born in Germany... His father is an officer in the armed forces... Excellent student who hopes to go to medical school... Plans to major in biology... Born September 28, 1965.

52

Ralph Phifer
Offensive Guard
6-2, 258, Freshman
Mooresville, N.C.

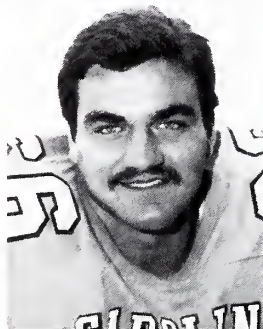

Backup behind Greg Naron at left guard... A gifted athlete with a lot of potential... Red-shirted last fall and doesn't have any experience... However, improved tremendously in the spring... Dedicated and a hard worker... Has developed into a good pass blocker... One of the team's strongest players... Easy-going and quiet off the field... Played center, offensive tackle, defensive tackle, linebacker and defensive end at Mooresville High School... Named to the Greensboro Daily News all-state team... All-Piedmont and all-conference... Selected his team's most outstanding defensive player and most outstanding offensive lineman... Started at center for North Carolina in the 1982 Shrine Bowl... Also lettered twice in track at Mooresville... In the General College at Carolina... Plans to major in sociology... Born December 3, 1964.

Daryl Parham
Outside Linebacker
6-6, 240, Freshman
Lynchburg, Va.

Excellent athlete who can be a very good outside linebacker... Red-shirted last season and thus, has no playing experience... Made a good impression on the coaching staff during spring practice, however... Hard worker who did a good job in the off-season drills... Has exceptional size for an outside linebacker... That size is a big asset at this position... Also has outstanding speed and agility for such a big man... Dedicated and wants to improve... Listed behind Micah Moon at one of the outside linebacker spots on the pre-season depth chart... With continued improvement he could push for the starting job at the other OLB position... Played defensive end, tight end and offensive tackle at Heritage High School... Named to the Roanoke Times' Top Five in Virginia... All-district selection in both football and basketball... Turned down basketball scholarship offers to accept his football grant at Carolina... 1983 Virginia state champion in the discus... Finished second in the shot put competition and also ran the 300-meter hurdles... Enrolled in Carolina's General College.

66

Stuart Phillips
Deep Snapper
6-0, 222, Senior
Rocky Mount, N.C.

Has handled all the long snaps for the past two seasons and should fill that role again this fall... Gets good velocity on his snaps... Also gets downfield and does a good job of covering punts... Still needs to work more on his accuracy... Conscientious and a hard worker... Was a jayvee lineman as a freshman... Twice an all-conference and all-area selection as a center at Rocky Mount High School... Handled long snaps there... Team captain as a senior... His team was the Division 1 4-A champion in 1979... Played in the Shrine Bowl... Member of the National Honor Society... An industrial relations major... Born December 18, 1962.

Bobby Pope
Offensive Tackle
6-2, 279, Senior
Hickory, N.C.

One of the team's most improved players in spring practice... A guard throughout his career, Pope was switched to right tackle during the off-season work... Picked up the new position very well... Enters the fall as the starter at that spot... Has the size and quickness to be a very effective tackle... Really showed great improvement in his agility and overall athletic ability in the spring... Has gained over 30 pounds since the end of last season... Has added that weight without losing any quickness... In fact, actually seems quicker now than in the past... Good pass blocker... Dependable and a hard worker... Goes full speed on the playing field, at practice and in the weight room... Aggressive and tough... Has gotten playing time in a reserve role during the past two seasons... Had been expected to challenge for a starting guard job last year, but was handicapped by an injury... Missed all of the 1983 spring practice with torn knee ligaments and that put him behind the other offensive guards... Suffered that injury against Virginia in 1982... Is fully recovered now and is being counted on for a big senior season... Attended Clemson briefly in 1980 before transferring to Carolina... Was ineligible in 1981 because of that... Did a good job on the scout team that year... Two-way tackle and punter at St. Stephen's High... Team captain as a senior... Named to Adidas All-America team... Chosen for the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... Won three letters in football, two in baseball and one in track... His father played football at N.C. State (1955-56)... A good student majoring in criminal justice... Born August 19, 1962.

Jeff Ray
Defensive Tackle
6-3, 258, Junior
Durham, N.C.

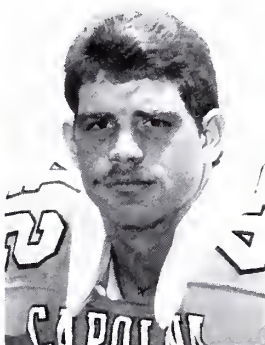

A pleasant surprise during spring practice... Came from nowhere to challenge for a starting spot... A reserve tight end in his first three seasons at Carolina... Was moved to outside linebacker at the beginning of the spring... Then was shifted to defensive tackle after a series of injuries there... Seems to have found a home at this position... Considering all the moves he made, he progressed very well in the spring... Picked up the defensive system very quickly... A starter at times during the spring, he's behind Reuben Davis at left tackle going into the fall... Being counted on for backup help there, but has shown he's capable of winning the starting job... A tough kid... Has fine size and good speed... Should see special teams action because he runs so well... Has shown the determination needed to be a good player... Saw only limited playing time in 1981 and 1983... Red-shirted in 1982... Earned three football letters at Northern Durham High on teams which went 25-5... Caught 30 passes in his last two seasons as a tight end and also punted... All-state selection... Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game... His father, Sid, played football at Carolina during the Charlie Justice Era... Majoring in industrial relations... Born December 30, 1962.

Rob Rogers
Kicking Specialist
5-11, 183, Senior
Raleigh, N.C.

In contention for all of the kicking duties... Soccer-style kicker who has handled kickoffs and long-range field goals for the past two seasons... Again in the running for those jobs... Also a candidate to replace Brooks Barwick who kicked PATs and short-range field goals for the last two seasons... Could be used as the Carolina punter... Missed his only three field goal attempts last year from 47, 51 and 62 yards... Made one of two in 1982, hitting from 48 yards against Pittsburgh and missing from 49 against Virginia... That 48-yarder at Pitt was the first field goal he had ever attempted in a college game and came on national television... It equalled the third-longest in school history... Don Hartig had also kicked a 48-yarder against Wake Forest in 1969... Was sensational in the 1982 Sun Bowl against Texas... Did a great job of kicking off on a windy, snowy day... Also saw action as a punter that day and performed well in the adverse weather, averaging 36.0 yards on two punts... Punted from the shadow of his own goal line on both occasions... Kicked field goals of 53 and 47 yards that day... Although school and national records do not include bowl performances, the 53-yard kick equalled the longest in Tar Heel history... Ellis Alexander had booted a 53-yarder against N.C. State in 1973... Rogers also perfectly executed an important onside kick in the second half as Carolina came from behind to win... He not only kicked the ball just the right distance, he also fell on it and recovered it... Voted one of the game's tri-MVPs by CBS Sports... A good, all-around athlete... Was a walk-on defensive back on the 1981 junior varsity... Had been a candidate for the punting job in 1982... When David Lowe won that spot, Rogers tried kicking off and quickly won that responsibility... A quarterback at Broughton High... Also played golf there... Majoring in speech.

Tim Rorrer
Linebacker
6-1, 220, Junior
Hampton, Va.

Playing behind Carl Carr at one of the linebacker spots... Played well throughout the spring... Saw reserve action at an inside position as a freshman, but was shifted to outside linebacker last fall to provide depth there... Moved back inside in the spring where he is probably better suited and seems more comfortable... Capable of playing either of the two inside spots... Intelligent and diagnoses plays well... Like a coach on the field... Very good technician... An intense competitor... Always in the ball game... A good leader... Has been an excellent special teams player in his first two seasons and will be counted on to help in that area again this fall... Captained his Bethel High School team as both a junior and senior... Had 104 unassisted tackles as a junior and 115 as a senior... Two-time all-district and All-Peninsula choice at linebacker... Scholastic Coach and Centenary All-America as a senior... Selected for the East-West All-Star Game... An art major... Born January 28, 1964.

65

Gary Ruble
Offensive Tackle
6-5, 250, Freshman
Waldorf, Md.

One of the reserves at offensive tackle... Made good strides in the spring after being red-shirted last fall... Added weight in the off-season and has the frame to fill out even more... Has good athletic ability... Fine size and speed... Has learned good work habits on the field and that has helped his progress... A two-way tackle at La Plata High... All-county selection in football, basketball and baseball... Won two football letters, two in basketball and three in baseball... MVP on his basketball team as a senior... Pitcher on Waldorf's senior all-star baseball team which won the state championship... Enrolled in the General College... Considering majoring in math... Born December 21, 1965.

68

Pat Sheehan
Offensive Tackle
6-3, 249, Sophomore
Princeton, N.J.

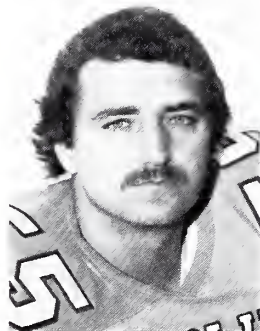

One of Carolina's best young players... Played behind All-America Brian Blados at left tackle last fall and now moves into that starting slot... Got some playing time last season... Late in the year was used as a third tight end in short-yardage situations... Also saw duty on some special teams... Has outstanding work habits... Committed to being the best he can be... Persistent and very intense... A tremendous competitor... Is already a team leader... A complete player, both mentally and physically... Has gotten bigger and stronger in his time at Carolina... A fast learner... Understands what needs to be done in different situations... Red-shirted at defensive tackle as a freshman in 1982... Went over to offense midway through the spring of 1983... Picked up the offensive schemes quickly... Just needs experience to be a standout player... Future all-star candidate... Came to Carolina from Lawrenceville Prep where he won all-state honors... Played tight end and nose guard... Team captain as a senior... Led his team in tackles, sacks and fumble recoveries... Centenary All-America... Won three letters in football and lacrosse and one in track... Also captained the lacrosse team... Had a brother, Tim, who played lacrosse at Carolina from 1976 to 1979... Majoring in English... Born September 16, 1964.

Brett Rudolph
Linebacker
6-2, 221, Freshman
Chagrin Falls, Ohio

Red-shirt freshman who's in the fight for playing time at linebacker... Listed behind Troy Simmons going into the new season, but is capable of winning the starting berth... Will see plenty of action whether he starts or not... On the scout team last fall... Made great strides in the spring... May have been the team's best linebacker the last two weeks of spring practice... Ended the off-season on a very positive note... Very intelligent young man who can play either of the two inside positions... Aggressive and has good instincts... Plus, has a good awareness of what's happening around him... Should be on all the special teams... As a senior at Chagrin Falls High School, he was the most valuable player in both Geauga County and the Chagrin Valley Conference... Played nose guard, tailback, linebacker and fullback... Led his conference in rushing with 1,309 yards and in scoring with 21 touchdowns... Second-leading rusher in the greater Cleveland area... All-city, all-county, all-conference and all-district... Associated Press class-AA all-state selection at linebacker... Was on the Cleveland Plain-Dealer Dream Team as a junior and senior... Won two letters in football and four in track... Enrolled in the General College at Carolina... Born March 5, 1965.

55

Mark Sigmon
Center
6-2, 229, Senior
Denver, N.C.

Goes into the fall as Harris Barton's backup at center... Has played tight end, offensive guard and offensive tackle in his first three years in Chapel Hill... Has worked hard to become a better football player... Has developed good work habits... Work has paid off as he has gotten bigger and stronger... That maturing process really became evident in the spring of 1983... Intelligent player... Tough and aggressive... Plays with a lot of confidence... Does a good job on the practice field... Won four football letters as a quarterback and linebacker at Bandys High School... Also lettered four times in basketball, twice in baseball and once in tennis... Played on basketball teams which were twice state runners-up... His brother, Gene, was co-captain of Carolina's 1963 Gator Bowl championship team... Majoring in industrial relations... Born December 10, 1962.

Troy Simmons
Linebacker
6-1, 217, Junior
Spring Lake, N.C.

Won a starting linebacker position in spring practice... With only five linebackers taking part in the spring drills, he got a lot of work... Showed good improvement... Was slowed late in the off-season work by nagging injuries... Still ended the spring as a starter although competition for that spot will certainly continue in the fall... Saw some action in a backup role last year... Also was a good special teams player and could be used in that capacity again... Missed all of the 1982 campaign after injuring a knee in pre-season practice... Was playing very well at the time of that injury and was pushing for a starting job... Got a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility... Played linebacker on the jayvees in 1981 before seeing late-season varsity action on special teams... A good, heady football player... Has excellent instincts on the field... Knows where the ball is... That's one of his best assets... Has good speed and is a very good hitter... An excellent technician... Intense competitor and a great student of the game... Played linebacker at Pine Forest High School... Led his team to an 11-1 record as a senior... All-East, all-conference and all-state... Won three football letters... One of his teammates there was N.C. State fullback Vince Evans... Played in the Shrine Bowl... A recreation major... Born October 22, 1962.

Quinton Smith
Wide Receiver
6-2, 184, Freshman
Alexandria, Va.

Showed signs in the spring that he can be an excellent player... Has the speed to give the Tar Heels a deep threat in the passing game... A very fluid runner... Has good size... Needs to work on his blocking... Playing behind Eric Streater and Larry Griffin at split end... Red-shirted last fall and lacks experience... Had 50 career catches as a wide receiver at T.C. Williams High School... Those catches accounted for 700 yards and eight touchdowns... Twice an all-district and all-region choice... Selected offensive MVP on his team which won the Northern District championship and finished second in the region... Lettered three times in football, once in soccer and four times in track... Ran on a mile relay as a senior that had the best indoor time of any high school unit in the country... A sprinter and long jumper... Enrolled in the General College at Carolina... Born May 11, 1965.

91

John Stone
Tight End
6-4, 224, Junior
Stamford, Conn.

A backup at tight end... Saw limited action in that same role last fall... Went to tight end in the 1983 pre-season work after playing offensive guard that spring... Had been a linebacker as a freshman... A tough, aggressive competitor... A good technician who picks up things quickly... Played tight end, linebacker and offensive guard at Rippowam High School... Earned three letters in football and four in baseball... All-area and all-conference as a senior... Named to the all-state teams picked by the New Haven Register and the high school coaches association... Selected his team's MVP as a senior... Played on a state championship team as a junior... An education major... Born April 23, 1964.

25

Eric Streater
Wide Receiver
5-9, 160, Sophomore
Sylva, N.C.

The surprise of the spring among the receivers... Did an excellent job in the off-season work... Finished the spring as the starting split end... Very consistent performer... Made all the tough catches in the spring... Very elusive... Considering his size, has good toughness as a blocker... A confident player... Saw limited action in a reserve role last season and did not have a reception... Was red-shirted as a freshman in 1982... Has a great personality and is one of the team's most popular players... Led Sylva-Webster High to the class 2-A state championship in 1980 and to the Division II playoffs as a senior in 1981... Played quarterback and defensive back... Also handled the team's punting and kick returns... In his last two years at quarterback he completed 106 passes for 2,036 yards... Threw 10 touchdown passes each season and averaged 5.5 yards a rush... As a senior he returned two punts for touchdowns and an interception for another... Associated Press all-state selection... Centenary All-America... Named North Carolina's most outstanding 2-A athlete as a senior... Played in the Shrine Bowl... Won three letters in football and basketball and four in track and baseball... His brother, Steve, was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference defensive back and punter at Carolina in 1980... Had another brother, Jimmy, who played quarterback at Tennessee from 1976 to 1979... Majoring in industrial relations... Born March 21, 1964.

Wes Sweetser
Quarterback
6-3, 206, Junior
Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Number three quarterback heading into the new season... Got a lot of work in spring practice after Mark Maye was injured... Did a good job in one of the two game-like scrimmages, completing six of 11 passes for 40 yards... Non-scholarship player who has a good grasp of the Tar Heel offense... Doesn't possess superstar talent, but does have ability... Capable of managing the football team... Fine competitor and a hard worker... Needs to be more consistent with his passing... As a senior at Camp Lejeune High School was voted Onslow County Athlete of the Year... Won all-conference and all-county honors at quarterback as a junior and senior... Also all-conference and all-county in basketball and baseball as a senior... Majoring in business administration... Born March 17, 1964.

Dave Truitt
Tight End
6-4, 230, Junior
Gaithersburg, Md.

Third-leading receiver on the team last fall despite playing behind Arnold Franklin... Saw a great deal of playing time... Made 18 catches for 204 yards and one touchdown... Had a season-high five catches for 56 yards against Memphis State... His touchdown catch was an eight-yard reception against William and Mary... Had seen only spot action as a freshman and did not have a catch... Capable of playing a variety of roles in the passing game in addition to the usual tight end position... Has excellent speed for a tight end... It's that speed which allows Carolina to have flexibility in its formations with him in the game... Made tremendous progress throughout the 1983 season and continued that improvement in the spring... Has matured and gotten stronger in the last year... That has helped improve his blocking... An excellent receiver... Tight end and defensive tackle at Gaithersburg High School... All-metro, all-county and all-league... Won two letters in football and one each in basketball, baseball and track... His brother, Steve, was the starting center at Wake Forest in 1980 and 1981... His major is industrial relations... 75

Donnie Wallace
Defensive Tackle
6-3, 260, Freshman
Everetts, N.C.

Outstanding all-around athlete who could challenge for a starting spot... Listed behind Brian Johnston at right tackle entering the fall... Was red-shirted last season as an offensive lineman... Was shifted to defense at the beginning of spring practice... Missed some of the early spring workouts with an injured knee... Also was hobbled late in the off-season work with a sprained ankle... Those injuries and the position change has left him behind some of the other players at this position... Possesses all the tools to still see plenty of action... Big and strong... Extremely quick... Parade and Adidas All-America lineman at Roanoke High School... Played defensive tackle and offensive guard there... Four-year starter at both positions... Three times an all-area, all-conference and All-East choice... Unanimous selection to the Associated Press All-State Team as a senior... Only player to be on the Greensboro Daily News All-State Team in both 1981 and 1982... Selected to the Roanoke (Va.) Times' Top Five in North Carolina... Played in the Shrine Bowl... Noting The Tar Heels

Only eight teams in the country have won more games than North Carolina over the last five years.

In that five-year period, Carolina has put together records of 8-3-1, 11-1, 10-2, 8-4 and 8-4. That's a combined mark of 45-14-1.

The only teams which have won more games in this period are Nebraska, Pittsburgh, Georgia, Alabama, Ohio State, Penn State, Texas and Washington.

Here are the nine winningest teams in the country during the past five seasons:

1. Nebraska (53-9)
2. Pittsburgh (50-9-1)
3. Georgia (49-9-1)
4. Alabama (47-12)
- Ohio State (47-13)
- Penn State (47-13-1)
7. Texas (46-13-1)
- Washington (46-14)
9. North Carolina (45-14-1)

Carolina earned five spots on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference teams chosen last fall by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and the Associated Press.

Defensive tackle William Fuller was named on all 100 ballots in the ACSWA voting, making him the only unanimous selection. Offensive tackle Brian Blados was the number two vote-getter with 90. Joining them on both teams were tailback Ethan Horton, strong safety Willie Harris and wide receiver Mark Smith.

When defensive tackle William Fuller won first-team All-America laurels last season, he became the fifth Tar Heel player to be so honored twice.

Fuller was a first-team choice last year by the American Football Coaches Association, the Walter Camp Foundation, The Sporting News and The Football News. He was a second-team selection by the Associated Press and United Press International.

Fuller had been named to the All-America team picked by the Football Writers Association of America in 1982.

Carolina's other two-time, first-team All-Americans were end Paul Severin in 1939 and 1940, end Art Weiner in 1948 and 1949, halfback Charlie Justice in 1948 and 1949 and offensive guard David Drechsler in 1981 and 1982.

Offensive tackle Brian Blados also was a first-team All-America last year. He was selected by the Associated Press and Newspaper Enterprises of America. He was a second-team choice by United Press International and a third-team pick by The Football News.

Tailback Ethan Horton also was a third-team All-America on the team chosen by The Football News.

Dick Crum now has a career record of 84-30-2. That's a winning percentage of .733. He ranks sixth among active coaches in winning percentage.

Carolina has now had at least one player rush for 1,000 yards in 11 consecutive seasons.

This amazing streak of 1,000-yard rushers was started by Sammy Johnson in 1973 with 1,006 yards. Mike Voight and James Betterson each reached the 1,000-yard mark in 1974 and Voight did it again in 1975 and 1976. Amos Lawrence had 1,000 yards in 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1980. Kelvin Bryant reached that total in 1980, 1981 and 1982.

The streak was kept alive last fall when Ethan Horton ran for 1,107 yards and Tyrone Anthony gained 1,063.

Carolina has now produced sixteen 1,000-yard rushers. That's the most of any school in the country. Southern California is second with 15.

For the second straight season, Carolina set a school total offense record in 1983. The Tar Heels ran and passed for 4,860 yards, breaking the record of 4,768 they had set in 1982. Carolina averaged 441.8 yards a game.

Carolina led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense, rushing, rushing defense, total defense and scoring defense. The Tar Heels were second in the league in scoring and second in pass defense.

Nationally, Carolina was seventh in rushing, seventh in total offense, 13th in scoring and 17th in total defense.

Ethan Horton led the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing last fall with 1,107 yards and Tyrone Anthony was third with 1,063. Horton averaged 100.6 yards a game on the ground and Anthony averaged 96.6. Horton finished 17th in the nation in rushing, while Anthony was 19th.

Tar Heel quarterback Scott Stankavage was sixth in the ACC in total offense. Horton was eighth and Anthony was 10th. Stankavage finished third in the league in passing.

Wide receiver Mark Smith was seventh in the ACC in catches with 40 and tight end Arnold Franklin was 10th with 25. Smith led the ACC with eight touchdown receptions, tying the Carolina school record.

When Carolina was beaten by Florida State in the Peach Bowl last December, it snapped a string of four straight bowl victories for the Tar Heels under Dick Crum. No other ACC coach has ever won more than two consecutive bowl games. Counting two Tangerine Bowl appearances while coaching at Miami, Crum has a 6-1 record in bowl competition.

Although William Humes missed the last five games of the season with a knee injury last fall, his 161 yards rushing against Miami in Carolina's third game was still the fifth-highest total of the Atlantic Coast Conference season. Top rushing performance in the league was turned in by Carolina's Tyrone Anthony in the season finale against arch-rival Duke. Anthony gained 232 yards that evening, pushing his season total to 1,063 and giving Carolina a record 16th 1,000-yard back.

Carolina offensive tackle Brian Blados was a first-round selection in the NFL draft last spring. Blados, a first-team All-America last fall, was chosen by the Cincinnati Bengals.

Other Tar Heel players picked in the NFL draft were tailback Tyrone Anthony in the third round by New Orleans, wide receiver Mark Smith in the sixth by Washington and linebacker Aaron Jackson in the 10th by Cincinnati.

Two other Carolina players who figured to be high NFL draft choices, defensive tackle William Fuller and offensive tackle Joe Conwell, signed with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL. In addition, three other Tar Heels signed free agent contracts with NFL teams—strong safety Willie Harris with Washington, quarterback Scott Stankavage with Denver and linebacker Jeff Blaylock with Cleveland.

Ethan Horton heads into his senior season at Carolina as the school's ninth all-time leading rusher. Horton, in two-and-a-half years at tailback, has now rushed for 1,827 yards. Another 1,000-yard season would move Horton past Charlie Justice and into fifth place on the school's all-time rushing list. Justice is currently fifth with 2,634 yards. Carolina's top four career rushers are Amos Lawrence (4,391), Mike Voight (3,971), Kelvin Bryant (3,295) and Don McCauley (3,172).

Chancellor Christopher Fordham

As its chancellor since 1980, Dr. Christopher C. Fordham III has led the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill to ever stronger standing as one of the nation's great academic, research and service institutions.

In report after report, the University has placed among the top two dozen colleges and universities in the nation and near the top—usually number one—among those in the South or Southeast. The University has been measured by its reputation among peers, the productivity of its faculty and graduates, and its success in attracting federal and other outside funds for research and programs, and by each criterion, it has been found excellent.

Building upon those honors, Fordham has directed the University into new areas critical to the nation's future.

Particularly visible among these initiatives have been efforts to extend the University's cooperative efforts with North Carolina's public schools, and steps to incorporate technology into all aspects of the education process.

The high priority the University accords its work with public schools, Fordham has said, reflects the understanding that "the students being educated today in the public schools are the resources from which the University will produce the leaders of the future.

"This continuum of education must be strong throughout to prepare the youth of today for the society of tomorrow."

In keeping with that philosophy, Fordham has guided the University to a leadership role in working to improve public education. The Lyndhurst Fellowship Program, which supports bright students who will be the best teachers of the future; the Center for Mathematics and Science Education, which will work to increase the supply of qualified secondary mathematics and science teachers; a College of Arts and Sciences program of workshops and internships for writing and foreign language teachers from the state's public schools; and other innovative activities are only part of this effort.

The emphasis on education quality overlaps considerably with the efforts Fordham has directed to gain acceptance for technology in all areas of academia.

Fulfilling this initiative, too, has resulted in a number of innovative new programs. The College of Arts and Sciences is conducting a computer-aided curriculum development program with support from IBM Corp., in which computers are being used in language tutorials, English composition and other areas. Students and faculty members in many other schools and departments now use computers routinely.

The University also has received funding for a new computer science building, which will assist its faculty members in that area in pursuing the most advanced research. Teaching in computer science has been enhanced by a teleclassroom facility, designed and operated by the Media and Instructional Support Center, which enables classes to be taught concurrently at Carolina and Duke University with full two-way communication.

In the technology area as well, Fordham's leadership role extends beyond the bounds of the University. He was a founding member of the board of directors of the Microelectronics Center of North Carolina, and he holds several other memberships and committee appointments in professional organizations.

The University's success in these areas of emphasis has not come at the expense of its other programs.

Great strides in the health professions were made while Fordham was dean of the School of Medicine (1971-79) and vice chancellor for health affairs (1977-80). Medical school programs were expanded, faculty strengthened and minority enrollment increased, and the school gained national prominence for its excellence and creativity. The Area Health Education Centers program was begun as a way to bring physicians closer to the population in this relatively rural state. A partnership among the state's four academic medical centers, community hospitals and health professionals throughout the state, AHEC has succeeded in achieving a more balanced distribution of doctors and other health professionals and is considered a model for decentralized health education.

New programs have been undertaken in all the health affairs schools—dentistry, medicine, nursing, pharmacy and public health—and new facilities have included the Lineberger Cancer Research Center, dedicated in May.

An equally impressive list of achievements has been recorded in the Division of Academic Affairs. The implementation of a new curriculum has incorporated basic skills in English, mathematics and foreign languages, as well as broad perspectives in science, in Western and non-Western culture, in aesthetics and in the humanities.

The School of Business Administration has undertaken new service programs and will, in concert with the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, take part in a new center for the study of private enterprise, which will be located in the Kenan Center of North Carolina, a soon-to-be-built structure that will be but the latest constructed at Chapel Hill with non-state funding.

A Greensboro native, Fordham is the son of an alumnus and he met his wife Barbara while they were at Chapel Hill. Their children also have attended the University.

Fordham's premedical and early medical training came in Chapel Hill, where he received a certificate in medicine from the then two-year medical school in 1949. His M.C. came from Harvard University.

In the years that followed, he left Chapel Hill several times—once for military service, once to lead the University of Georgia's medical school, once, briefly, to consider a top federal government post—but returned each time.

"When one's University calls, it's a very magnetic pull," he said.

While under the influence of that magnetism, he has repaid the University with work that has brought personal distinction as well. Fordham is a former member of the Association of American Medical Colleges' executive council and past chairman of the AAMC and the National Council of Deans and Southern Regional Deans.

A member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Science, he also is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine, a distinguished service member of the AAMC, a fellow of the American College of Physicians and a member of several other honorary societies.

He is an accomplished researcher and has written widely on health policy.

But above all, Fordham is the leader of the University at Chapel Hill, a job he continues to approach with missionary zeal.

"The University, I think, has a particular role," he has said, "because it's where the youngsters can reach for the stars. There are 13-year-olds all over the state of North Carolina who are striving to make better grades for one reason right now in this stage of their lives—so they can go to Carolina. And that's a wonderful thing.

"That's a wonderful star for the people of the state to put up there, and not many states have that."

Athletic Director John Swofford

One of the most respected administrators in intercollegiate sports is John Swofford, director of athletics at the University of North Carolina.

Swofford, now beginning his fifth year at this position, is in charge of one of the best-rounded athletic programs in the nation. Tar Heel football and basketball teams annually rank among the finest in America. In addition, Carolina fields outstanding teams in men's and women's non-revenue sports.

For example, in his short time as athletic director, Swofford has seen Tar Heel teams win six national collegiate championships—one in basketball, two in lacrosse and three in women's soccer. Carolina's football team has played in a post-season bowl game each of his four years as athletic director. The Tar Heels have also won or tied for first place in the race for the Carmichael Cup, symbolic of overall athletic excellence in the Atlantic Coast Conference, for the past four years.

Some of the credit for Carolina's on-the-field excellence must go to Swofford for his behind-the-scenes work. While the day-to-day running of the Athletic Department is a time-consuming task, Swofford still has undertaken several major projects in his four years as athletic director.

With Swofford in the lead, Carolina has conducted a $30,000,000 fund-raising drive to construct a student activities center which will include a 22,000-seat basketball arena and an Olympic-size swimming pool. That facility is scheduled to open in 1985.

Since Swofford became athletic director, three new holes were constructed at Finley Golf Course; work has begun on a varsity tennis complex; Boshamer Stadium has been expanded and dressing rooms renovated for the Tar Heel baseball team; the University has hosted the NCAA Golf Championships, an NCAA regional baseball tournament, the AIAW National Soccer Tournament and the AIAW National Softball Tournament; the academic support staff has been expanded; and major changes have been made in future Tar Heel football schedules.

In April, Swofford was named by the NCAA Council as new chairman of the NCAA Football Television Committee. Swofford had been a committee member since 1982. That committee and the Division I Basketball Committee are generally regarded as the two most important in the NCAA organization. Swofford is chairing the committee as it tackles one of the biggest problems ever to face the NCAA—the dispute over football television rights.

These accomplishments are a good indication Swofford is well aware of the problems facing intercollegiate athletics and how to cope with them. But Chancellor Christopher Fordham knew that when he named him to replace Bill Cobey as athletic director on May 1, 1980. Cobey had resigned to pursue public office.

Swofford gives the credit for Carolina's recent successes to the people around him.

"We have an outstanding coaching, administrative and clerical staff, and with their help, our primary goal will be to continue the tradition of integrity and excellence that has been the trademark of Carolina athletics," he says. "Our athletic program is a part of a great university. It is a special place and we will strive to reflect her values and character."

"We will continue our commitment to a strong overall program and we will continually strive to operate on the principle that the student-athletes who are participants in our various sports are our greatest assets. We must be committed to their positive development as individuals while they are a part of our athletic program."

A native of North Wilkesboro, N.C., Swofford first came to Carolina as a Morehead Scholar in 1967. He graduated in 1971 with an A.B. in psychology and industrial relations.

He played quarterback and defensive back on Tar Heel football teams in 1969, 1970 and 1971. Those last two teams went to the Peach Bowl and Gator Bowl. He tied a then-school record against Vanderbilt in 1969 by throwing three touchdown passes in one game.

Swofford was named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll and Who's Who in College Athletics. He also served as president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes on campus.

In 1973 he earned a masters in athletic administration at Ohio University. In his time there Swofford served as a graduate assistant to the assistant business manager of athletics.

From 1973 to 1976 he was athletic ticket manager and assistant to the director of athletic facilities and finance at the University of Virginia. His duties in that job included directing all ticket sales, advertising and promotions. He also handled game contract settlements, stadium and coliseum operations and team travel arrangements.

He returned to Carolina in May, 1976 as assistant athletic director and business manager, handling all the athletic department's business affairs. Among his many other responsibilities were handling fund-raising affairs, team travel and the athletic dining hall. He also coordinated sports camps.

Although he remained assistant athletic director, Swofford dropped the business manager title and was named assistant executive vice-president of the Educational Foundation in January, 1979. In that job he was in charge of the overall financial structure of the athletic department. His position with the Educational Foundation involved general office procedures, membership services and fundraising.

Swofford is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Athletic Directors and is on the Board of Directors of the Ohio University Athletic Administration Program. He is a member of the Board of Directors of North Carolina National Bank in Chapel Hill and the Board of Directors of The Village Companies Foundation. He serves on the ACC television, football and basketball committees.

A regular jogger, Swofford enjoys reading and tennis. He is married to the former Becky Owens of North Wilkesboro. They have two children, Autumn and Chad.

Head Coach Dick Crum

The head football coach at the University of North Carolina is Dick Crum, one of the most successful and highly-respected men in his profession.

Crum, heading into his 11th season as a college head coach, has a career record of 84-30-2. That's a winning percentage of .733, the sixth-best among the top coaches in the game.

In the last five seasons Crum's teams have posted records of 8-3-1, 11-1, 10-2, 8-4 and 8-4. The Tar Heels' 11-1 mark in 1980 equalled the winningest season in school history.

Carolina's 45 wins in the last five years are the most ever by a major college team in this state over a similar stretch of time. In fact, only eight schools in the country have won more games than the Tar Heels in this period—Nebraska (53), Pittsburgh (50), Georgia (49), Alabama (47), Ohio State (47), Penn State (47), Washington (46) and Texas (46).

Under Crum, Carolina has finished in the Top 20 of the national wire service polls four of the past five years. That includes rankings of ninth and 10th in 1980 and eighth and ninth in 1981. Crum is the only coach in Atlantic Coast Conference history to have a team finish in the Top 10 of both national polls for two straight years.

When the Tar Heels lost to Florida State in the Peach Bowl last December, it snapped a streak of four straight bowl victories for Crum at Carolina. No other ACC coach has ever won more than two straight bowl games.

Counting two victories at Miami of Ohio, Crum has an amazing 6-1 record in bowl competition. The wins have come over Texas twice, Michigan, Georgia, Arkansas and South Carolina and serve as another indication of his coaching ability.

"Dick Crum is not only an outstanding coach, but an outstanding person as well," says Carolina Athletic Director John Swofford. "He has an excellent perspective of what inter-collegiate football should be at an institution like Carolina. He is a credit to the game and to the University."

Crum, 50, became the Tar Heel coach in January, 1978. He replaced Bill Dooley who had resigned to become athletic director and head football coach at Virginia Tech. Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, Crum had been the head coach at Miami for four seasons, posting a 34-10-1 record.

In announcing the selection of Crum as Dooley's replacement, Carolina Chancellor Ferebee Taylor said, "Dick Crum was the unanimous choice of our nominating committee to be the new football coach."

"Coach Crum's outstanding record at Miami University speaks for itself and we are confident that, under his leadership, our football program will continue to maintain Carolina's high standards of excellence."

It has done just that. Crum got off to a rough start as his first Tar Heel team suffered a disappointing 5-6 season in 1978. The problems of players adjusting to a new coaching staff and an assortment of injuries were major reasons for that losing mark. However, Crum quickly brought Carolina back to national prominence.

His 1979 team had the best record in the ACC, going 8-3-1. The Tar Heels were the only team in the country to defeat Pittsburgh that year and toppled Michigan, 17-15, in the Gator Bowl.

That was followed by an 11-1 campaign in 1980. The Tar Heels won the ACC championship and led the league in scoring, scoring defense, total offense, total defense and rushing offense. Crum was ACC and District Three Coach of the Year. Carolina whipped Texas, 16-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The Tar Heels then went 10-2 in 1981, leading the ACC in total offense, rushing offense, scoring and net punting. Carolina climbed to as high as third in the national polls during the season, the highest the Tar Heels had been since 1948. Carolina capped the year with a 31-27 triumph over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

In 1982, the Tar Heels set school records for total offense and passing yardage while compiling an 8-4 record. Carolina led the ACC in total defense, scoring defense, pass defense and rushing offense and was second nationally in total defense and sixth in total offense.

Then came last fall's 8-4 season. The Tar Heels set another school total offense record, leading the ACC in yardage and finishing seventh nationally. Carolina also led the league in total defense, rushing offense, rushing defense and scoring defense. At one point during the season the Tar Heels were ranked third in the nation.

Crum has had seven first-team All-America selections in the last four seasons—outside linebacker Lawrence Taylor and offensive guard Ron Wooten in 1980, offensive guard David Drechsler in 1981, Drechsler and defensive tackle William Fuller in 1982 and Fuller and offensive tackle Brian Blados in 1983.

Taylor was the ACC Player of the Year in 1980 and has been the NFL Defensive Player of the Year for the past three seasons. Kelvin Bryant, Crum's star tailback for four years, was the most valuable player in the United States Football League during its first year of operation.

In his six years at Carolina, Crum has produced eight 1,000-yard rushers. Tar Heel quarterbacks have led the ACC in passing two of the past five seasons. In fact, the top three passers in school history have all played for Crum. Carolina has scored more points and gained more yardage than any other ACC team in the last five years.

Ironically, Crum is best known for his defensive philosophies. And he stills says defense will be the key to Carolina's football success.

"I think you win championships with good defensive teams," he says. "Fundamentals are also so important in football. If you play fundamental and sound football and don't make mistakes, you're going to win a lot of games."

Crum certainly plans on winning a lot more games at Carolina. Those who have gotten to know him in his time here have no doubt about that.

"Coach Crum is building a great program," says Bryant, the Philadelphia Star tailback who might be the best runner in football. "I think one reason he's had success has been the fact he really cares about his players. He's interested in everything we do, on the field and off it. I know he's helped me in a lot of things not even related to football."

One reason for Crum's good rapport with his young players may be his 12 years of experience as a high school coach. He considers those years great preparation for his college coaching career.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Crum attended Boardman High School and then enrolled at Muskingum College. He later transferred to Mount Union College where he received his B.S. degree in 1957, majoring in mathematics with a minor in physics. He also holds an M.Sc. from Western Reserve.

In football, Crum was a non-scholarship halfback. He saw most of his action with the B team and it was there he learned of the great importance of fundamentals.

The first six years of his coaching career were spent as an assistant at Boardman High, Sandusky High and Warren Harding High, all in Ohio.

Crum accepted his first head coaching position in 1963 at Mentor High School in Mentor, Ohio. He compiled a six-year record of 50-9-1, winning three league championships. His record in his last four seasons there was 38-2.

He joined Bill Mallory's Miami staff as defensive backfield coach in 1969.

He was appointed defensive coordinator in 1970 and held that position for four years. While he was defensive coordinator his teams ranked third, fifth, sixth and first in the nation in total defense. The Redskins also topped the nation in rushing defense in 1973.

When Mallory left Miami to become head coach at Colorado after the 1973 season, Crum was named his successor. He won three Mid-American Conference championships in four years there and twice took teams to the Tangerine Bowl. The Redskins defeated Georgia, 21-10, in 1974 and South Carolina, 20-7, in 1975 in those post-season appearances.

Crum's Miami teams had records of 10-0-1 in 1974, 11-1 in 1975, 3-8 in 1976 and 10-1 in 1977.

In his only losing season at Miami, the Redskins lost nine of their 11 starting defensive players in their first two games. After an 0-6 start, however, Crum rallied his team to three wins in its final five games. The Redskins then capped that comeback by going 10-1 in 1977, coming from behind eight times to win.

Miami is known as the "cradle of coaches." Other former coaches at the Oxford school include Woody Hayes, Ara Parseghian, John Pont, Bo Schembechler and Mallory.

Like all those men Crum was extremely successful at Miami. He was selected Ohio Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1975, MAC Coach of the Year in 1974 and District Five Coach of the Year in 1974 and 1977. His 1974 squad finished the season ranked 10th in the wire service polls, the highest rating of any team in MAC history. His three MAC championships are the most ever won by a Redskin coach.

Twice Crum was selected to serve as head coach in the Ohio Shrine Bowl Game. He has also been on coaching staffs in the All-America Bowl and the Coaches' All-America Game. He coached in the Japan Bowl last January.

Crum has served on several committees of the American Football Coaches Association and is currently a member of the AFCA's board of trustees.

While at Miami, Crum had been considered for other head coaching jobs. However, he had always asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

"I had been interviewed at other schools," he says, "but I always left those meetings with very mixed feelings and emotions. After I interviewed at Carolina, I had no such qualms. On the plane ride back to Ohio I told my wife, 'If they offer me the job, I'm going to accept.'"

"The thing that influenced me more than anything else is the fact that Carolina is an excellent academic institution as well as a home of great athletics."

In his spare time Crum enjoys fishing and the outdoors in general. Each summer his family takes a two-to-four week fishing trip to Canada. Their vacation spot is in an area just north of North Bay.

Crum also has a great interest in flying. He obtained his pilot's license in the summer of 1980.

Last spring Crum received the Alumni Service Award from Mount Union College, the highest honor his alma mater bestows on an alumnus. It was "presented in recognition of outstanding achievement in chosen or professional fields, service to the college and community service."

Dick is married to the former Shirley Moncur of Delaware, Ohio. She is an Ohio University graduate with degrees in physical education and library science. They have three sons—Mike, 21, and twins, Jeff and Joel, 19.

Football Staff

Bobby Cale (Offensive Backs)

Bobby Cale is beginning his third season as coach of the Carolina running backs.

A former star Tar Heel player, Cale worked on the Carolina staff for two years as a graduate and part-time assistant coach. He became a full-time staff member in the spring of 1982.

Cale was a four-year starter at cornerback during his playing days in Chapel Hill. He led the Atlantic Coast Conference in interceptions with five in 1976 and finished his career with 12, tying him for second place on the school's all-time interception list.

After graduating in 1979, Cale signed a free agent contract with the Seattle Seahawks. He then returned to Chapel Hill that fall to serve as a graduate assistant under Dick Crum.

After spending one year in private business, Cale came back to Carolina in 1981 as a part-time assistant. He was elevated to a full-time post after Cleve Bryant resigned to join the New England Patriots' staff.

In two seasons Cale has coached three 1,000-yard rushers—Kelvin Bryant, Tyrone Anthony and Ethan Horton. Bryant was the USFL Player of the Year in 1983 and Anthony was a third-round selection in the NFL draft last spring.

A native of Middletown, Del., Cale is a bachelor.

Fred Chatham (Defensive Backs and Special Teams)

Fred Chatham, a former North Carolina high school coach, is in his second year as a full-time member of Dick Crum's Tar Heel staff.

Chatham assists Dale Evans in coaching the secondary and also works with special teams.

A native of Elkin, N.C., Chatham is a 1974 Carolina graduate. He was a Dean's List student and played on the varsity basketball team here.

He began his football coaching career at Elkin High School in 1977 as an assistant. He served as head coach there from 1978 to 1980 and was named Tri-County Coach of the Year in 1979.

Chatham returned to Chapel Hill in 1981 and was a part-time assistant for the Tar Heels for two seasons. He was elevated to a full-time spot when NCAA rules were changed in 1983, allowing schools to hire an extra assistant.

A fine all-around athlete, Chatham played on Virginia state prep football championship teams at Woodbury Forest in 1968 and 1969. He played semi-professional baseball in Winston-Salem at one time and also once qualified as a member of an Oklahoma rodeo circuit.

Chatham is single.

Marc Dove (Outside Linebackers)

One of the two new members of the Carolina coaching staff is Marc Dove who will work with the Tar Heel outside linebackers.

Dove replaces Mel Foels who resigned last winter to take a similar position at the University of Tennessee.

Dove comes to Carolina from Mississippi State where he had served as defensive coordinator for the past two seasons.

A 1972 graduate of Texas Tech, Dove worked as a graduate assistant coach under Jim Carlen the following fall. He then spent the 1973 and 1974 seasons as a full-time member of the Red Raider staff before joining Carlen at South Carolina in 1975.

After three seasons there Dove was named defensive backfield coach at Mississippi State in 1978. He was appointed the Bulldogs' defensive coordinator in February, 1982.

Dove was a three-year regular for the Red Raiders during his playing days at Tech. He was coached by J.T. King as a freshman and sophomore and by Carlen in his final two seasons. Dove, a defensive back, was named Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Year in 1971.

In high school Dove played on a state championship team at San Angelo, Texas. His coach there was Emory Bellard.

Marc and his wife, Judy, have two sons—Zachary Paul and Seth.

Bobby Elliott (Receivers)

Coaching the Carolina receivers is Bobby Elliott who is beginning his second year on the job.

Elliott came to Carolina in February, 1983. He replaced Jack Himebauch who was named the school's director of recruiting services. In Elliott's first year here, one of his players, Mark Smith, led the Atlantic Coast Conference in touchdown catches.

A native of Iowa City, Iowa, Elliott was a two-time Academic All-America defensive back at the University of Iowa in 1974 and 1975. A history major with a 3.8 grade point average, Elliott was awarded post-graduate scholarships by both the NCAA and the National Football Foundation.

He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Iowa in 1976 and then served as defensive backfield coach at Kent State in 1977. In 1978 Elliott moved to Ball State where he coordinated the defense and coached the secondary for two years.

Elliott then coached the defensive backs at Iowa State for three seasons. He worked briefly at N.C. State in 1983 before coming to Chapel Hill.

Elliott is the son of Bump Elliott, the former head football coach at Michigan and currently the director of athletics at Iowa.

Bobby and his wife, Joey, have a son, Grant.

Dale Evans (Defensive Backs)

Dale Evans is heading into his second season as coach of Carolina's defensive backs.

Evans came to Carolina in February, 1983 from the University of Colorado. He had been defensive coordinator there and also worked with the Buffaloes' inside linebackers.

A native of Pierce, W.Va., Evans attended West Virginia University where he received his undergraduate and master's degrees. A walk-on football player, he was the Mountaineers' starting quarterback and free safety for two seasons.

He began his coaching career as a head coach at Sisterville High School in Sisterville, W.Va. He coached there in 1963 and 1964 before becoming an assistant at Salem College in West Virginia for two years. He then served as head coach there for one season before taking the job of freshman coach at West Virginia.

After two years at his alma mater, Evans spent four seasons at Texas Tech and eight at South Carolina. He worked with the secondary all 12 of those years. He then went to Colorado for the 1982 season before joining Dick Crum's Tar Heel staff. He replaced Larry Marmie who had resigned to become defensive coordinator at Tennessee.

Evans and his wife, Joann, have two sons, Kelly and Tracy. Tracy is a senior on South Carolina's football squad this fall.

Ted Gill (Defensive Linemen)

The newest member of the Carolina coaching staff is Ted Gill who will work with the nose guards and defensive tackles.

Gill joined the Tar Heels during the summer. He replaces Chuck Preifer who had resigned to accept a coaching position with the Green Bay Packers.

Gill is beginning his 15th year in collegiate coaching. Most of that time has been spent working with defense. He came to Carolina from Army where he coached the defensive line last season.

A 1970 graduate of Idaho State, Gill was a two-time

All-Big Sky defensive tackle for the Bengals. After graduation, he stayed on at Idaho State and coached the freshmen in the fall of 1970 as a part-time assistant. He spent the next three seasons as a full-time staff member with responsibilities in the offensive and defensive lines.

Gill then spent two seasons each at Utah and New Mexico State before going to Ball State in 1978 for four years. He coached the defensive line in his first two years there and served as defensive coordinator in the last two.

He coached the defensive line at Cornell in 1982 before taking the job at Army last season.

Gill is married. He and his wife, Gloria, have two children, Nichole and Erica.

Denny Marcini (Defensive Coordinator and Linebackers)

Coordinating the Carolina defense is Denny Marcini, now in his seventh year on the Tar Heel staff.

In addition to running the entire defense, Marcini also works specifically with Carolina's inside linebackers. Four of his players have won All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors—Buddy Curry, Darrell Nicholson, Lee Shaffer and Chris Ward. Curry is now one of the biggest defensive stars in the National Football League.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Marcini was a two-way guard at Miami University. He received all-conference honorable mention his senior year.

After graduating in 1964, he served as an assistant football coach at Lakewood St. Edward High School for eight years. He then was head coach there for two seasons and had an overall record of 17-2-1. He also was baseball coach for eight years.

Marcini returned to Miami in 1974 to coach the offensive guards and centers. He was named the Redskins' defensive coordinator in 1977 and assumed that same position when he joined Dick Crum at Carolina six years ago. The Tar Heels have led the ACC in total defense three of the past four seasons, finishing second in 1981.

In addition to football, Marcini also enjoys wrestling and has officiated on the high school, college and professional level.

He and his wife, Betsy, have four children—Jeff, Denny, Melinda and Susie.

John Matsko (Offensive Coordinator and Offensive Linemen)

John Matsko, who has coached an All-America player in each of the past four seasons, is in charge of the Tar Heel offense.

Matsko's duties are working with the offensive linemen and also coordinating the overall attack. Carolina has set school total offense records in each of the past two years, finishing sixth and seventh nationally in yardage. His star players have included four first-team All-America linemen—Ron Wooten in 1980, David Drechsler in 1981 and 1982 and Brian Blados in 1983.

A native of Mentor, Ohio, Matsko played for Dick Crum in high school. He then attended Kent State and was the starting fullback for the Golden Flashes in 1972 when they won the Mid-American Conference championship and went to the Tangerine Bowl. He coached there for one season as a student assistant to Don James.

Matsko then spent two years as a graduate assistant for Crum at Miami. He coached at Danbury High School for one year before returning to Miami in 1977. He came with Crum to Carolina in 1978.

With Matsko in charge, Carolina has led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense three of the past four seasons, finishing second to Duke in 1982.

John and his wife, Kim, have two daughters, Marie and Elizabeth, and a son, John.

Randy Walker (Quarterbacks)

Coaching the Carolina quarterbacks is Randy Walker, who is beginning his seventh year on the Tar Heel staff.

Walker worked with Carolina running backs in his first four seasons here before taking responsibility for the quarterbacks two years ago. In his first year with the signal-callers, the Tar Heels set a team single-season passing yardage record. Last fall Scott Stankavage set 11 school passing records and tied another.

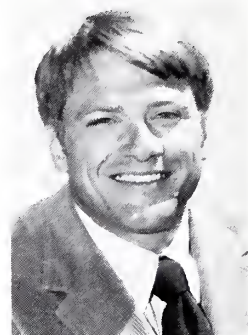

A 1976 Miami graduate, Walker played on Redskin teams which compiled a 32-1-1 record. His teams won three straight Mid-American Conference championships and three consecutive Tangerine Bowl titles.

Randy finished his playing career as the sixth-leading rusher in Miami history. He was selected the team's most valuable player in his senior year after playing tailback, fullback and wingback at different times during the season.

A native of Troy, Ohio, Walker was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals after graduation. He worked for Dick Crum as a graduate assistant at Miami in 1976 and became a full-time staff member in 1977 as the Redskins went 10-1. He joined Crum at Carolina in 1978.

In his four years of coaching the Tar Heel running backs, Walker worked with five 1,000-yard rushers.

Walker and his wife, Tammy, have a special interest in music. They have a daughter, Abbey, and a son, Jamie.

Jack Himebauch (Director of Recruiting Services)

Jack Himebauch is heading into his second season as Carolina's director of recruiting services.

In that job, Himebauch coordinates all of the Tar Heels' football recruiting. He also assists coaches of non-revenue sports in recruiting and performs other duties assigned by the director of athletics.

A native of Rocky River, Ohio, Himebauch earned three letters as a tight end at Miami University under John Pont and Bo Schembechler. He led the Redskins in receptions in both 1963 and 1964. Himebauch had a career total of 43 catches for 614 yards and six touchdowns.

After graduating in 1965, Himebauch was an assistant coach under Dick Crum at Mentor High School for four years. He then spent six seasons as head coach at Darien High School in Connecticut.

Himebauch was an assistant at Fordham University in 1976 before returning to Miami and Crum's staff there in 1977. He then came with Crum to Carolina in 1978. During his college coaching career he worked with defensive linemen, offensive linemen and receivers.

Jack and his wife, Cheryl, have three sons—Chris, Curt and Jonathan.

Phil Ben (Academic Counselor)

The academic counselor for Carolina's football team is Phil Ben, now in his third year at that job.

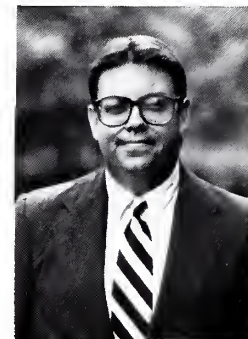

In that role Ben closely monitors the classroom progress of the Tar Heel players and offers suggestions, advice and counsel about different aspects of their academic work.

Ben has been involved with the Carolina athletic program since 1972 when he started work as a tutor in the department. Phil is a 1974 Tar-Heel graduate with an A.B. in journalism. He has also done graduate work in both journalism and education and has taken part in the School of Business Administration's University Management Development Program.

In addition to his work in the Athletic Department, Ben is also a contributing writer to the University Report and Alumni Review, publications of the General Alumni Association. He has authored a book on Atlantic Coast Conference basketball and has written a syndicated newspaper column on college football.

Phil and his wife, Stephanie, are members of the Chapel Hill Preservation Society and the North Carolina Preservation Society.

Mike Marks (Athletic Fitness Director)

Mike Marks, who worked for the late Bear Bryant at Alabama, is in his third year as Carolina's athletic fitness director.

Mark's major responsibility is to develop strength and conditioning programs for all Tar Heel athletic teams.

A native of Richardson, Texas, Marks worked at Alabama for seven years prior to coming to Carolina. In his first four years at Tuscaloosa, he served as assistant track coach. During his last five years there he supervised the strength and conditioning programs for all Crimson Tide athletes.

While Marks was a member of Bryant's staff, Alabama won two national football championships. Marks also coached six track and field All-Americans there, including an NCAA champion in the shot put.

Marks is a 1974 graduate of Oklahoma State where he played football and participated in track. He was a two-time Big Eight champion in the shot and also a two-time NCAA finalist in that event.

Mike is married to the former Lee Branch.

Rick Brewer (Sports Information Director)

Rick Brewer is beginning his 17th year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his 10th as its director.

A native of Winston-Salem, N.C., Brewer is a 1971 Carolina graduate with a degree in journalism.

He served as a student assistant in the sports information office for three years and was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975.

In his nine years as SID, Brewer has won publication awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) for his football brochure, football game program, basketball brochure, basketball game program, tennis brochure, golf brochure and a recruiting brochure for women.

Last summer Brewer served as a press officer for the United States Olympic Committee at the Summer Games in Los Angeles. In that role, he worked as a liaison between the media covering the Games and American athletes and coaches. He had undertaken similar duties for the USOC at the 1982 National Sports Festival in Indianapolis.

For the past two years Brewer has been a member of the media coordination committee which assists the media at the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championships. He is a member of CoSIDA, the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association.

Brewer is a bachelor.

Dave Lohse (Assistant Sports Information Director)

Dave Lohse is in his sixth year as assistant sports information director at Carolina.

Lohse is a 1977 graduate of Purdue University where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He worked in the Boilermaker Sports Information Office for three years as a student assistant.

Lohse then spent two years as a graduate assistant in the Carolina Sports Information Office before being named assistant SID in August, 1979. Lohse's major responsibilities at Carolina include editing the football and basketball game programs and handling publicity for several non-revenue sports teams.

Several of Lohse's publications have won national awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America). He has handled publicity for five national championship teams at Carolina, two in lacrosse and three in women's soccer.

A native of Griffith, Ind., Lohse is a member of the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and CoSIDA. He is also a long-suffering Chicago Cubs fan.

Lohse is a bachelor.

Monty Woods

(Assistant Sports Information Director)

Monty Woods is heading into his fourth year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his third as a full-time staff member.

Woods first came to Carolina in the fall of 1981 as an intern for the sports information office. His internship was the completion of his master of science degree in athletic administration from Ohio University. He was named an assistant SID the following spring.

Woods is a 1980 graduate of West Virginia Tech where he worked as sports information director as a student. He won national awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) for his football and basketball publications in 1980.

In his time at Carolina, Woods has coordinated media arrangements for two Atlantic Coast Conference baseball tournaments, the 1983 NCAA East Regional Baseball Tournament and the 1982 AIAW National Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament. His major responsibilities in Chapel Hill concern non-revenue sports, but he also assists with the publicizing of Carolina's football and basketball teams.

Woods, a bachelor, is a member of CoSIDA, the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association, the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and the Society of American Baseball Research.

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium. It is here in this beautiful natural valley that Tar Heel football teams have played their games for 56 years.

Kenan Stadium is generally referred to as one of the most beautiful football arenas in the country. Considering its majestic setting amid the Carolina pines, some say it is the most beautiful. Little can actually be done to enhance its natural beauty. In fact, most of the work on the stadium has been directed toward keeping up the natural setting.

INSIDE SPORTS recently rated Kenan Stadium one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it can't be surpassed.

William Rand Kenan, Jr. deserves the credit for making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and was an 1894 Carolina graduate. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry.

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November, 1926 and was completed in August of the following year. Complete cost of the stadium and fieldhouse was $303,000.

In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record in Kenan is 175-103-14. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there. Carolina toppled Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in later years the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, bringing capacity to 48,000. Work has been done in the last six years to increase that to 50,000.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, weight-training quarters, lounges, meeting rooms and other facilities.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected in Kenan. In fact, it is likely that every ticket will be sold to Carolina's six home games this year before the season even opens. That has been the case in recent years.

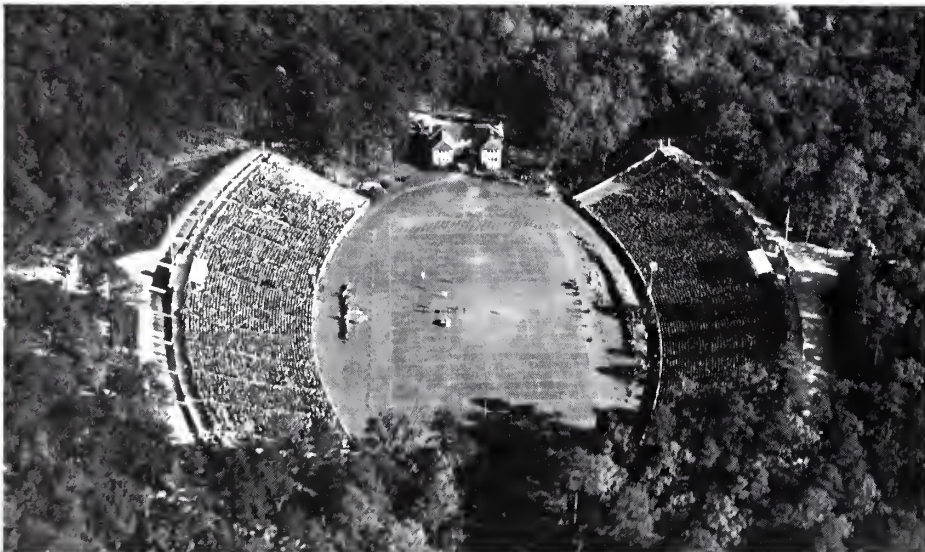

Largest attendance ever at a game in Kenan was the standing-room-only crowd of 53,689 which saw the Tar Heels play Clemson last fall.

The 1983 season also saw another first in the stadium—a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised to fans throughout the Atlantic Coast Conference area. Portable lights were brought in since the second half was played after sunset.

The University

A magnificent campus has done much to earn for The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill the title "Southern Part of Heaven," but the University's renown for natural beauty has been more than equalled by its reputation as one of the world's foremost academic institutions.

The New York Times Selective Guide to Colleges recently stated that, "UNC looks like a college campus with football-size quads and tree-lined walks," and praised the University for its academic excellence, awarding the University its highest rating for academics. Many other reports agree.

In a comprehensive evaluation recently published by the National Academy Press, Carolina was ranked as one of the foremost graduate and research institutions in the nation. The faculty was rated as the outstanding faculty in the Southeastern United States and one of the outstanding faculties in the country.

The University's faculty outranked all others in the region in the humanities, mathematics and the physical sciences, and the social and behavioral sciences, all of which encompass the major departments and disciplines that teach both graduate and undergraduate students.

In the same year, the University's library was ranked first in the Southeast and among the top university research libraries in the United States.

Part of the genius of The University of North Carolina is that the people of the state have made these outstanding academic resources available to the youth of the state at not more than modest cost. Since the Constitution of the state in 1776 called for "one or more public universities," there has been a major commitment by the people of North Carolina to provide quality higher education available to the youth of the state at modest cost. In very few states can the most promising students truly reach for the stars at their own state-owned university, representing the best society has to offer.

In addition, the scope, range and variety of the University's programs and opportunities are stunning. The University's programs in business administration, education, journalism, law, physical therapy, library science and recreation administration have recently received high national rankings, as have the Schools of Medicine, Dentistry and Nursing.

The University faculty's research and scholarship capabilities attract large sums of money each year in research and training grants and contracts. The University is thus a major economic benefit for the state, annually bringing to the state more than $60 million in research and training grants and contracts, and consistently ranking in the top 30 in the nation among institutions receiving federal money for these purposes.

There are numerous areas of society's critical frontiers of knowledge where the University is providing research to move those frontiers forward and to provide the new knowledge that will enable our society to be both competitive and fulfilling. These areas of research range from the humanities and the fine arts to the natural, physical and social sciences.

The number of books and publications annually produced by members of the faculty is virtually uncountable, but it is well known that the University produced two more Pulitzer Prize winners this past year: one by the UNC Press (Matthew Hodgson, Director) and the other to Kenan Professor Emeritus Vermont C. Royster, School of Journalism.

The Old Well

The students of the University are thoroughly impressive. Almost 90% of the freshmen each year rank very near the top of their high school classes. They find the freedom and responsibility of being a student at Carolina to be both exhilarating and maturing, and surely from their ranks will come the next generation of North Carolina's and the nation's leaders.

Living alumni now number approximately 150,000 and are located in all 50 states and many foreign countries. Among them are national and statewide leaders in almost every field of endeavor.

In an effort to help assure continued excellence of future students and alumni, and to assist in one of its more critical problems, the University has taken a leadership role in working with public schools. Among the more than a score of innovative programs underway are three projects that join the forces of the School of Education and college of Arts and Sciences.

The imaginative Lyndhurst program provides a new approach to teacher-training through graduate support for talented baccalaureate graduates who wish to teach math, science and English.

In another program, math and science teachers within driving range of Chapel Hill have been coming to campus for several years to enhance their teaching skills. Both the University faculty and the school teachers are benefitting from this experience because of the mutual interchange and common interests that they share.

Beginning in 1984, high school teachers of English and foreign language will be spending a year in residence at Chapel Hill, updating their skills and teaching prospective teachers.

While many of the nation's research universities have abandoned teacher training at a time of society's critical need, this University has advanced it, and its faculty has demonstrated collaborative capacities that are inspirational.

The University serves the people of the state in many ways besides educating the youth of today and the leaders of tomorrow and conducting a multiplicity of research programs. Through its many outreach programs, business and government leaders are given an opportunity to participate in management programs. Physicians, dentists, lawyers and other professionals as well as state and local government officials are given the opportunity to participate in teaching and learning programs, and the Extension Division provides the public an opportunity to study and learn at home with a wide spectrum of offerings in both credit and noncredit courses.

These efforts and many others help to begin to describe the University at Chapel Hill, which Chancellor Fordham has characterized as having "integrity, excellence, high performance, a commitment to public service and public well-being, and to a strong, progressive voice in the affairs of society."

South Building

A Town Touched by Magic

The late Jake Wade wrote this piece a good many years ago. Even today, it captures the spirit of Chapel Hill as well as anything we know. Mr. Wade was director of sports publicity at the University at the time of his death.

This is a town touched by strange magic and one to which its peoples, many of them a curious breed, hold a rare and somewhat inexplicable attachment. Our town has no rivers, no mountains, no seas, but in the spring it is beautiful and in all seasons it is both wonderful and sad, romantic in the spirit of the youth it harbors in the educational process of the great State University, which is the town's principal industry.

Chapel Hill, where bells wake you in the morning, regardless of whether you live in the Beta house, Cobb dormitory or on Laurel Hill Road, and where the bells keep ringing periodically the day long, with the chimes taking over in the majesty of twilight and on certain important occasions such as the big football games.

Not really a village any more, although its inhabitants, some living in the past, like to consider it as such... None of us will go so far as to say that it possesses the tranquility and serenity of the Twenties, when Thomas Wolfe and Paul Green and LeGette Blythe and "Monk" McDonald and the Carmichaels found adventure, melancholy and beauty in their diverse pursuits on the old campus and the unexplored lands beyond... It is not as small, and not quite as nice, but almost, and there is a whole new world of knowledge to be discovered here with resources of mind and matter in abundance.

Chapel Hill, where the civic clubs do not sing, salute flags or wear badges, but unostentatiously and quietly engage in humanitarian projects as earnestly as their backslapping counterparts of the cities... Where its only commercial radio station taboos hillbilly tunes and plays sweet music and deathless great arias.

In Chapel Hill that man in dungarees, coming out of the post office, is just as apt to be a best-selling novelist as the town's leading plumber or the divorced author of profound treatises on the science of nuptial compatibility... Where shoe shines, on the most modest leather, cost you twenty cents per copy, with the same treatment from five to ten cents cheaper in a much larger town across the way, but there you are not waited on by one of the town's most popular citizens who contributes philosophy, sound sense and remarkably accurate football prognostications as a dividend to the dab of mundane polish.

People in our town go to church, pray, are kind and considerate, both the students and the townspeople, as in all towns... But where some of the ministers never wear hats, do wear sweaters, and sometimes drive the more modest editions of those little foreign make sports cars, but their democracy in manners is no compromise with the dignity of their souls, for our town is blessed with able and Godly preachers.

Chapel Hillians, like the folks in your town or city, play poker and bridge, but strangely, little or no gin rummy, and they play golf and handball... Chapel Hill, where the tiniest tots are able swimmers, and old men play an exciting brand of tennis... Where there are circles and cliques, as in all towns, for the socials, round tables and sports, but where those who travel together are frequently of oddly dissimilar tastes... A famous singer breaks bread often and attends games with a Kenan professor... A coach has tea regularly with a brilliant author... A university department head finds more wisdom, truth and beauty in the philosophy of a bistro keeper than in the ivory towers of his own intellectual level and prefers his company... But Chapel Hill is a town of neighbors who are bird watchers and who tend their flowers with loving care and talk over stone walls and drink their coffee or cocktails while talking oftenest about their children and grandchildren... That's Chapel Hill. God bless our town and its gentle way of life.

Looking Back At 1983

CAROLINA

Ethan Horton had a sensational junior year, leading the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing with 1,107 yards.

Here are four offensive standouts of 1983 who return for the new season. Tight end Dave Truitt (above left) was the third-leading receiver on the squad last year. Tight end Arnold Franklin (80 above center) was the number two pass-catcher and also developed into a sensational blocker. Split end Earl Winfield (above right) was a threat in the open field. Fullback Eddie Colson (right) was the lead blocker for two 1,000-yard rushers, but also was a fine runner himself as he shows against N.C. State.

Rah! Rah! Rah!

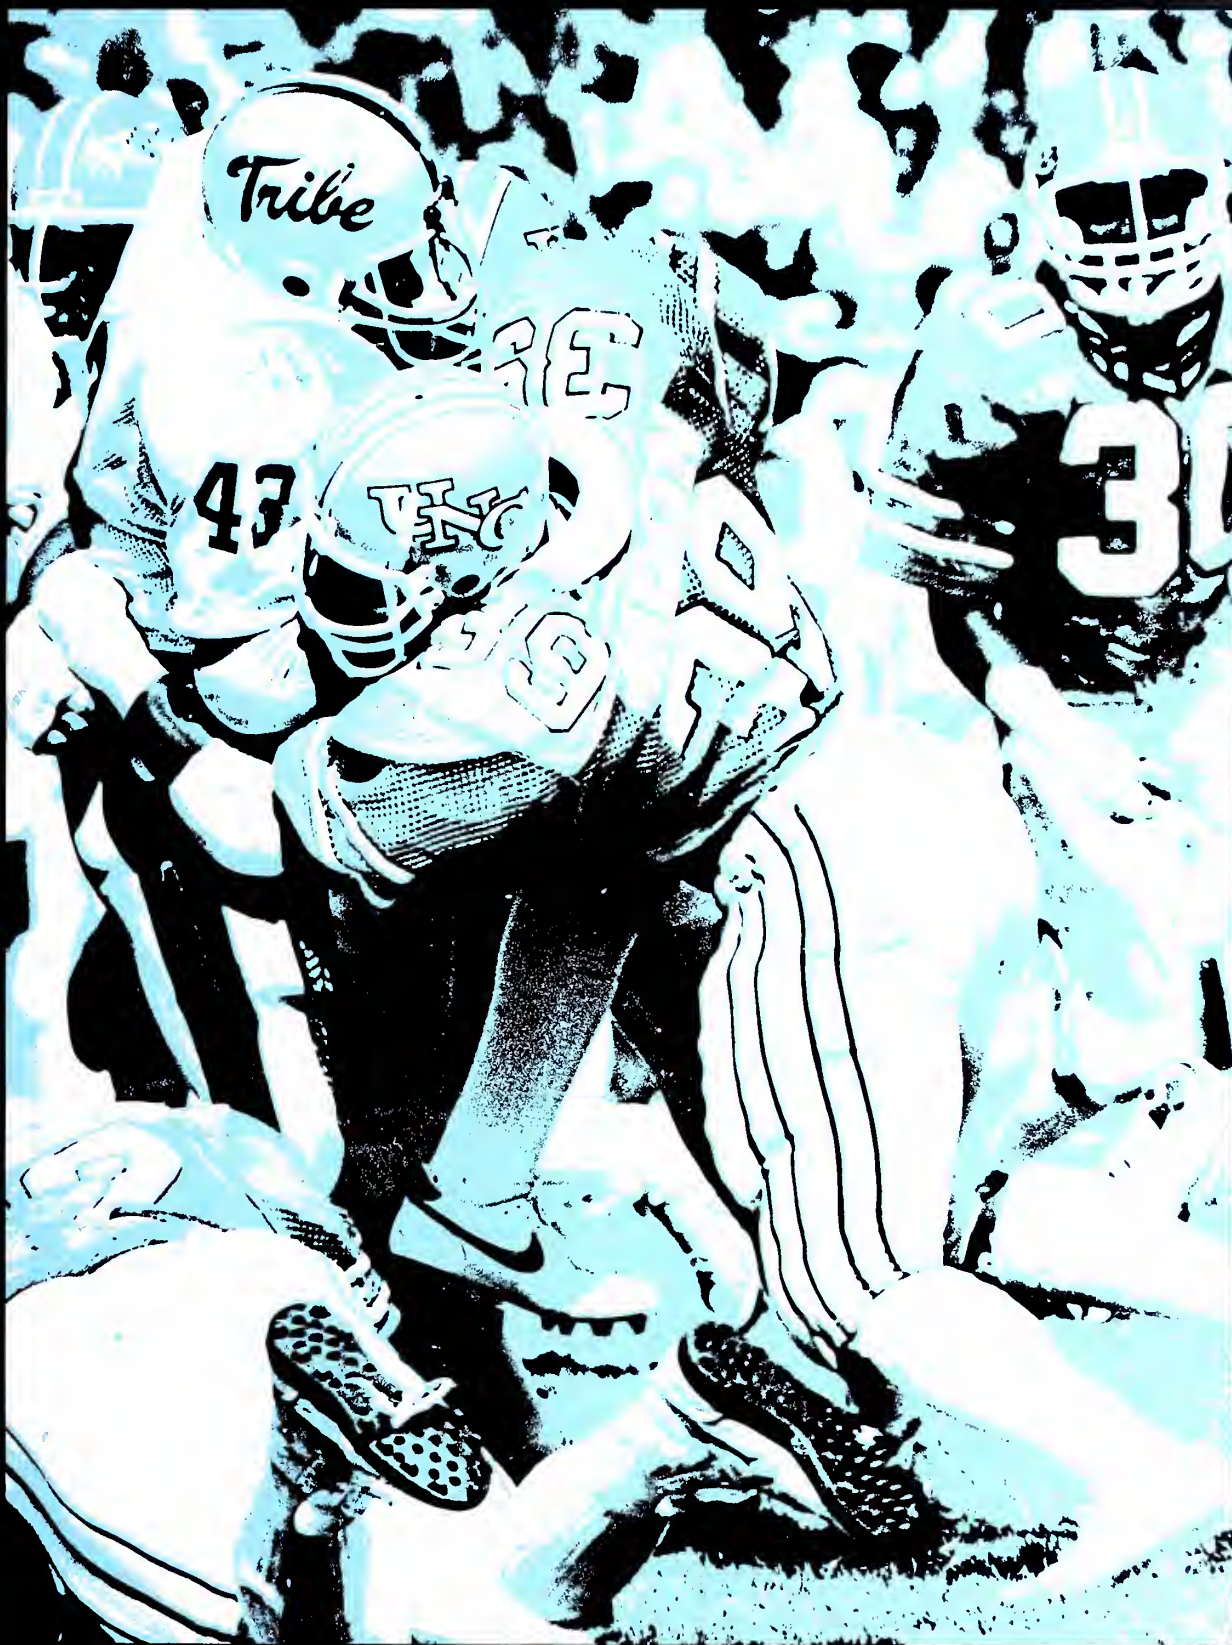

1983 was a year of firsts at Carolina. Three backs—Tyrone Anthony, Eddie Colson and Ethan Horton—all rushed for 100 yards in the same game for the first time in school history (above). The Tar Heels also played under lights for the first time in Kenan Stadium (opposite page) for the season finale with Duke. Coach Dick Crum (right) became the first coach in the state of North Carolina to take a team to five straight bowl games and tailback Ethan Horton (page 68) averaged 5.5 yards a rush, a new school record.

The Outlook

With All-America tailback Napoleon McCallum heading a cast of 14 returning starters, Navy should be a greatly improved football team in 1984. Coach Gary Tranquill says the Midshipmen have the potential to be better offensively and defensively than they were during last fall's 3-8 campaign. The main reason for his optimism is the return of McCallum, who rates as a leading Heisman Trophy candidate. McCallum led the nation in all-purpose yardage last season and was third in rushing, averaging 144.3 yards a game. He will operate behind a veteran offensive line and should also be helped by a Navy passing game that figures to be much better than last year. In fact, improving his aerial attack was one of Tranquill's major goals in the spring. Defensively, Navy has more good athletes than 1983. The strength of the defense may be the secondary where cornerback Eric Wallace rates as a top all-star candidate.

The Outlook

An explosive, veteran offense, headed by one of the most exciting quarterbacks in college football, and a battle-proven defense should make Boston College one of the best teams in the nation this fall. Quarterback Doug Flutie, the third-place finisher in the Heisman Trophy balloting last season, needs only 2,490 yards passing to become the all-time NCAA leader in aerial yardage. Since becoming the starting quarterback midway in his freshman season, Flutie has guided the Eagles to a 21-7-1 regular-season record. However, Flutie is not the whole story for Boston College. Coach Jack Bicknell returns 47 lettermen, including 16 starters, from last year's 9-3 squad which captured the Lambert Meadowlands Trophy as the best team in the East. The Eagles return their offensive line intact from the Liberty Bowl and also have back their top six rushers of 1983. The defense, featuring nose guard Mike Ruth, should be quicker and stronger than last fall.

The Outlook

Depth and experience should make Kansas an improved defensive team this fall, but the Jayhawks face a rebuilding job on offense. Coach Mike Gottfried returns 21 defensive lettermen and seven starters from last year. Heading that group are a pair of outstanding linebackers, Willie Pless and Darnell Williams, the top two tacklers in the Big Eight Conference last season. The rest of the defense is also talented. Plus, there is considerable depth at the interior positions in the Jayhawks' wide-tackle six alignment. However, only three starters return from an offensive unit which was fourth nationally in passing in 1983. The major loss there was record-setting quarterback Frank Seurer. Soph Mike Orth and junior college transfer Mike Norseth are the top candidates for that spot. Regardless of who wins the job, the Jayhawks again figure to rely heavily on the pass in 1984. The return of tailback Robert Mimbs gives Kansas a fine running threat and balance to the attack.

The Outlook

With the return of 15 starters and 50 lettermen from a 9-1-1 team and the nucleus that has ripped off a 30-2-2 record in the last three seasons, which is the best in the nation, the outlook is bright for the 1984 Clemson football season. Clemson has finished in the top 11 in the final Associated Press poll each of the past three years and has the talent to do that again. The Tigers enter the fall with a 20-game unbeaten streak at home on the line and 19 straight wins over Atlantic Coast Conference opponents. Any and all of these should be strong motivational points for Danny Ford's sixth full season in Tigertown. Clemson lost just three offensive starters from last year. Quarterback Mike Eppley returns for his final season and should be the architect of any offensive successes. Defense will cause the most headaches where four down linemen are gone, as well as two secondary starters. Still, there is good young talent on hand to fill those holes quite capably.

The Outlook

An experienced offensive line and a defense that boasts eight returning starters have the Demon Deacons hoping for their first winning season in five years. Senior center Mike Nesselt anchors the offensive front, which is the strongest and deepest in Coach Al Groh's four years at Wake. Running backs Michael Ramseur and Topper Clemons, who alternated at tailback a year ago, could be paired in the same backfield this fall. Replacing quarterback Gary Schofield, the school's all-time passing leader, will be a problem. The defense features four returning regulars in the secondary, including All-Atlantic Coast Conference candidate Ronnie Burgess and last year's top tackler, Reggie McCummings. The Deacons' foremost returnee, however, is senior punter Harry Newsome—the top returning punter in the nation. Newsome was all-league and third in the country last year with a 45.5 average.

The Outlook

N.C. State will approach the 1984 season with considerable more optimism than was the case a year ago. Primarily, it will be because of the skills and experience of quarterback Tim Esposito and running back Joe McIntosh. Esposito completed 58.8 percent of his passes and threw for 2,096 yards last year, a Wolfpack record, while McIntosh again rushed for over 1,000 yards. He's the NCAA active career rushing leader with 3,151 yards. All-star tackle candidates Joe Milinichik and A.V. Richards anchor the offensive line. The defensive unit, which yielded 361 yards and 22.4 points a game in 1983, should also be improved. Team leaders should be Frank Bush at outside linebacker and Raymond Phillips at tackle. Other stars on defense could include Pat Teague and Mark Franklin at inside linebacker and Nelson Jones, John McRorie and Dwayne Greene in the secondary.

The Outlook

The Memphis State Tigers were the second most improved team in the nation in 1983 and with the return of 60 lettermen, the outlook is even brighter for 1984. Rey Dempsey, who guided Southern Illinois to the 1983 Division IAA national championship, is MSU's new coach, replacing the late Rex Dockery. Dempsey inherits 17 starters from the 1983 squad, including quarterback Danny Sparkman and standout tackle Jeff Walker. There are nine lettermen at the running back positions, headed by a pair of excellent tailbacks—Punkin Williams and Jeff Womack. Defensively, there is experience and talent at every position. Top performers should be end Tim Harris and linebacker Eric Fairs, both of whom could contend for all-star honors. If a replacement can be found for wide receiver Derrick Crawford, 1984 could be Memphis State's second straight successful season.

The Outlook

Although Maryland will be without star quarterback Boomer Esiason this fall, the Terps should again be one of the best teams in college football. With 35 lettermen returning from a year ago, Coach Bobby Ross feels his team will have better depth and improved speed this season. Best bet to replace Esiason is veteran Frank Reich. Rick Badanjek gives the Terps a fine runner. The offensive line should be solid and will be anchored by tackle Greg Harraka, center Kevin Glover and guard Len Lynch. Defensively, Maryland rates linebackers Eric Wilson and Bobby DePaul as its top all-star candidates. In addition, the Terps have good depth at that position. Other key defenders figure to be tackle Tom McHale, guard Tom Parker and safety Joe Kraus. Place-kicker Jess Atkinson gives Maryland help defensively with his booming kickoffs and offensively with his range and accuracy. He made 15 of 19 field goals last year and is already the Terps' all-time leading scorer.

The Outlook

With 49 lettermen and 17 starters, headed by All-America candidate and Heisman Trophy hopeful Robert Lavette, returning from last year, the outlook is bright for Georgia Tech to improve on its 3-8 record of 1983. Coach Bill Curry, entering his fifth season at the Tech helm, will count on a healthy Lavette, who has gained 2,877 yards rushing in a star-studded career, to boost the Jacket offense. That offense will also feature the run-pass skills of quarterback John Newberry, the pass-catching ability of tight end Ken Whisenhunt and the blocking of Freshman All-America tackle John Davis. Defensively, Tech expects an improved front seven and should get outstanding play from outside linebacker Pat Swilling, nose guard Ivery Lee and inside linebacker Ted Roof. The secondary, led by sophomores Anthony Harrison and Reginald Rutland, also should be better than a year ago.

The Outlook

Virginia made a lot of progress in its second season under George Welsh last year, compiling a 6-5 record. That was only the third winning season for the Cavaliers since 1952. Welsh feels that progress will continue in 1984 with 37 lettermen, including 15 starters, back from last fall. Virginia's major question mark will be at quarterback where a replacement must be found for Wayne Schuchts. Among the key returning players on offense are All-Atlantic Coast Conference tackle Jim Dombrowski, guard Bob Olderman and tailback Howard Petty. Petty, a sophomore, rushed for 835 yards and scored seven touchdowns last season, both team highs. Nine starters return on defense, including All-ACC strong safety Lester Lyles, tackle Ron Mattes and linebacker Charles McDaniel. Another important player for the Cavaliers is place-kicker Kenny Stadlin who booted a school-record 12 field goals last year.

The Outlook

The 1984 Duke Blue Devils will be without a great deal of their offensive power from the past four years. Gone are NCAA record-setting quarterback Ben Bennett, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, and tailback Mike Grayson, the team's leading rusher and pass receiver last fall. Back to fill in at the tailback spot is Julius Grantham who rushed for 556 yards last year. The offensive line may well be the strong point on the team with the return of tackles Justin Beckett and Ted Million and guard Mike Higginbotham. That unit should provide fine protection for the new quarterback, probably either Ron Sally or Drew Walston. The defense will be led by the linebacking corp. Nick Buoniconti led the team in stops last year with 97 tackles and will be joined at that position by Ralph Alderman and sophomore Mike Junkin, who made 38 tackles in the last three games of the 1983 season.

The Educational Foundation

John Cherry

Moyer Smith

Neal Harrell

One of the most important organizations in the Carolina Athletic Department is the University's Educational Foundation.

It is the Educational Foundation which makes possible all athletic scholarships awarded by Carolina.

As the Tar Heels' sports program has grown through the years, the Foundation has done likewise. It currently has over 7,000 members who finance a scholarship program that costs $1,600,000 a year.

"Since its inauguration in 1938, the Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, for over 3,000 student-athletes," says Ernie Williamson, the Foundation's executive vice-president.

Williamson feels the overall bonus of being a Foundation member is helping a worthy young student obtain a college education. He says the high caliber young athlete who is awarded a scholarship is a great representative of the University.

Any donation to the Foundation is welcome. However, membership in the Rams Club is restricted to those who contribute $150 or more.

Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program was started in 1968 and has already surpassed the $7,000,000 mark.

The endowment program consists of $50,000 endowed scholarships, life memberships of $15,000 and $30,000, wills and bequests and a new dimension—a pooled income fund. Under the pooled income plan, a member gives a principal sum to the Foundation and then receives the interest off that during the remainder of his life.

A special room on the south wing of Kenan Fieldhouse serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. This area is open two hours before football games and provides a lounge and picnic area for those who come early.

The Foundation operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Other members of the Foundation staff are Moyer Smith, John Cherry and Neal Harrell. Along with Williamson, Mary Baggett, Wendy Mann, Terri Bare, and Jean Gunter, they have made the Foundation better able to serve its members.

"We couldn't have the type program we do without the Educational Foundation," says Athletic Director John Swofford. "We've enlarged our staff in the last two years and I think the staff additions we have made will enable us to do a better job for our members."

Ernie Williamson

The man who stands at the helm of the Educational Foundation is popular Ernie Williamson, the executive vice-president.

The former star Carolina tackle is one of the most active individuals on the Tar Heel sports scene. He is constantly on the go—talking with Foundation members, speaking to prospective members or avidly following all of Carolina's athletic teams.

Williamson is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. The native of Crewe, Va., played one season of football here under Carl Snavely and was regarded as an outstanding tackle. He was lured away to professional football and played with New York and Washington before a knee injury ended his career.

Williamson returned to Chapel Hill to finish work on his degrees and then went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was an assistant coach there for two years and head coach for three seasons.

He returned to Carolina in 1957 to accept his present position. At one time he also served as a recruiter for the football program.

Williamson is highly respected in his field. He has served three terms as president of the National Association of Athletic Fund-Raisers.

Ernie is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va. They have a son, Wayne, and a daughter, Carole.

The First Forward Pass

While it is foolish to state emphatically that the first forward pass was thrown by a North Carolina football team, certain records would indicate as much. No less an authority than John Heisman himself credits the Tar Heels with the game's first pass.

The scene was Atlanta on October 26, 1895. Carolina and Georgia were locked in a scoreless struggle in the game's closing moments. The Tar Heels were in a punting situation deep in their own territory. Here is an account of what then happened as reported by Heisman in a 1928 edition of Collier's Weekly:

"The North Carolina fullback retreated until the crossbar of his goal was above his head and from the Georgia stands came the exhortation to 'block it, block it, block it.'"

"And Georgia's forwards, gathering all their waning strength and riding over North Carolina's tired defense, might have blocked it and even scored, had the sturdy boy from North Carolina kicked.

"But instead of punting into the leaping bodies of those onrushing Georgians, he ran a few mincing steps to the right. Raising the ball to his shoulder he tossed it.

"Luck was with the boy. The ball was caught by a North Carolinian. Now as we know forward passes, it wasn't much. It traveled a few yards and laterally as well as forward. It may have appeared to the spectators that it had been knocked from that fullback's hands.

"At any rate the lad who caught it ran 70 yards for a touchdown!

"I had seen the first forward pass in college football. It was illegal, of course. Already Pop Warner, the Georgia coach, was storming at the referee. But the referee had not seen the North Carolina lad, goaded to desperation, toss the ball. A touchdown had been made and a touchdown it remained."

Other accounts of the game do not mention the forward pass. However, George Stephens is credited with a 70-yard touchdown run in the game.

At any rate, Heisman wrote that he immediately saw the possibilities that the forward pass had. He personally wrote Walter Camp about the play.

The forward pass was discussed for several years. It became a part of the rules at Camp's suggestion in 1906.

Certainly, the idea of the pass had to come from something. It may well have been Carolina's strange play in 1895.

*Bowl game competition

Counting two bowl performances, Amos Lawrence had 25 100-yard games.

Carolina's 1,000-Yard Rushers

1,000 yards.

That's the magic figure for any runner in football.

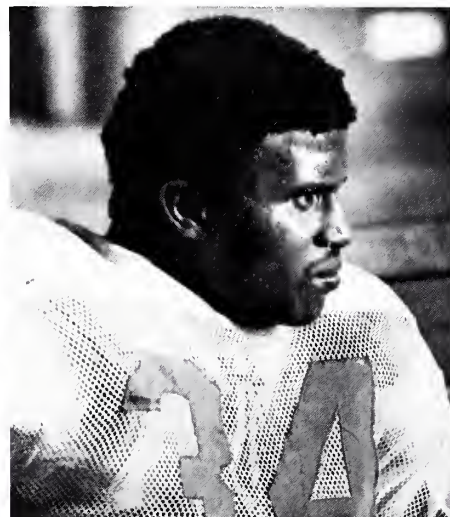

Call him a halfback, a running back, a tailback, an I-Back or whatever you want. But, when he rushes for 1,000 yards, you simply call him something special.

Nowhere in college football have there been more special runners than at the University of North Carolina.

In the last 15 years Tar Heel tailbacks have rushed for over 1,000 yards on 16 occasions. That gives Carolina more 1,000-yard backs than anyone else in collegiate history.

Mike Voight

James Betterson

The University of Southern California has produced fifteen 1,000-yard rushers. That's the second-highest total in the game and puts the Tar Heels and the Trojans well ahead of everyone else.

When Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony each broke the 1,000-yard barrier last fall, it marked an incredible 11th straight season in which at least one Carolina player has reached the magic figure.

Three times in that 11-year stretch, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. Other schools have also had two players get 1,000 yards in the same year, but in all those instances the two played different positions and were in the game together. Only at Carolina have the two actually shared the same position—tailback in the Tar Heels' I-formation.

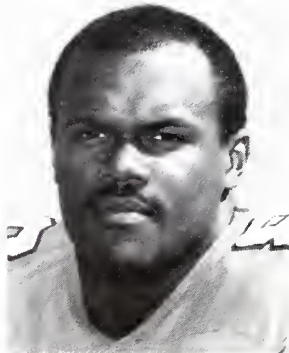

Tailback at Carolina, in fact, has become the glamour position in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Year in and year out, more attention goes to Tar Heel tailbacks than to players at any other position at any other school in the league. To be a tailback at Carolina, one has to be a superb athlete, one of the nation's best players, someone special.

How has Carolina been able to produce so many 1,000-yard backs?

Certainly, having outstanding runners has been a major factor. But, other schools also have had great backs and haven't been able to compile the figures of Carolina. For example, the Tar Heels have had more 1,000-yard rushers than Alabama, Notre Dame and Penn State combined.

No, there are also other reasons, the most important of which are probably fine offensive linemen, belief in the I-formation and tradition. Those reasons also hold true for Southern California.

Both Carolina and USC have had eight different players top 1,000 yards. Two players for each school have had three 1,000-yard seasons—Mike Voight and Kelvin Bryant of the Tar Heels and the Trojans' Charles White and Anthony Davis.

In addition, Carolina's Amos Lawrence had an amazing four 1,000-yard seasons. He and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett are the only major college players ever to hit the 1,000 mark four times.

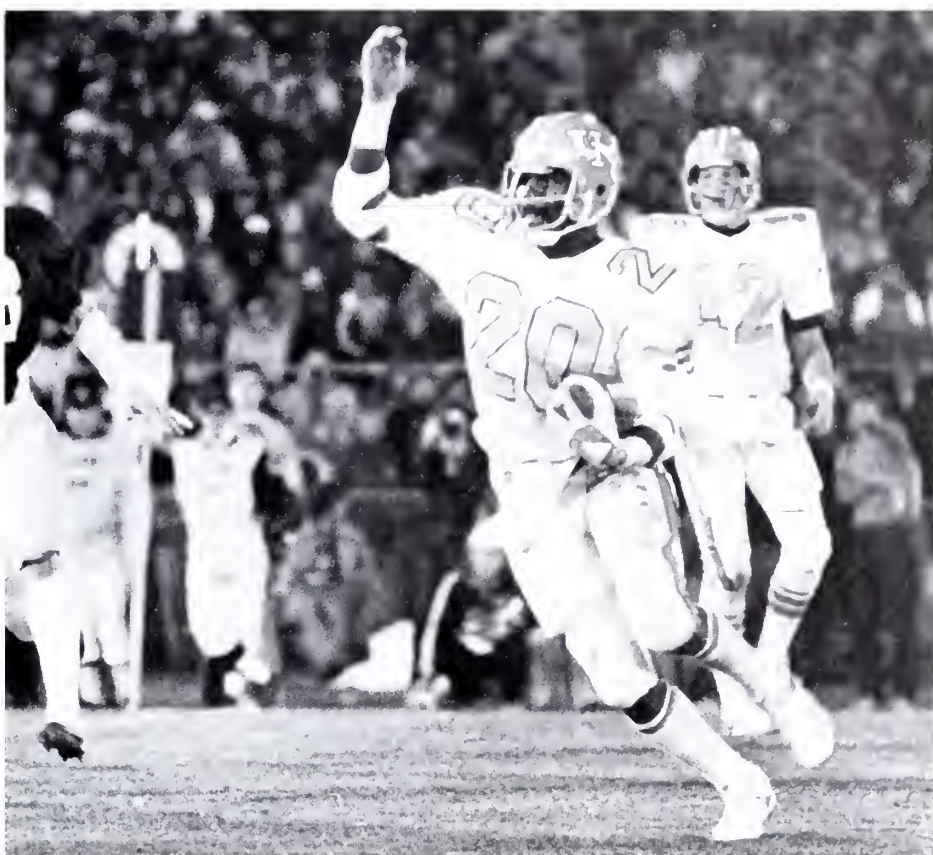

The biggest difference between the tailback systems at Carolina and Southern Cal is that Trojan backs have generally had higher yardage totals. But, USC usually picks one player as its tailback and sticks with him throughout the season. In fact, Southern Cal has never had two backs gain 1,000 yards in the same season.

Carolina, on the other hand, has alternated tailbacks quite a bit, trying to keep a fresh player in the game at all times. When two players split a position, their individual yardage totals obviously aren't as high as that of someone who is in the game constantly. The Tar Heel philosophy is simply that if you've got two great runners, let them both play. In the long run, both will be more effective.

That's not to say Carolina would never go with a system like USC's. If one runner is clearly better than all others, he will get the majority of the playing time. For example, in 1970 Don McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards.

Amos Lawrence

That broke O.J. Simpson's all-time NCAA single-season yardage record. Still, his backup, Ike Oglesby, had 562 yards.

McCauley is Carolina's only 1,000-yard back not from either North Carolina or Virginia. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y.

Anthony, Horton, Bryant, James Betterson and Sammy Johnson are all North Carolinians. Lawrence and Voight grew up in Virginia.

All, with the exception of Horton who will be a senior at Carolina this fall, have played professional football. McCauley and Bryant have had the most success to date. McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records set by Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore. Bryant was the USFL Player of the Year in the league's first season and is regarded by many as the best runner in the game today.

Johnson and Horton were recruited as quarterbacks. Horton, in fact, might still be a quarterback today if Bryant and Anthony had not suffered leg injuries late in his freshman season. He was shifted to tailback until they returned to action, but ended up making a career of the position.

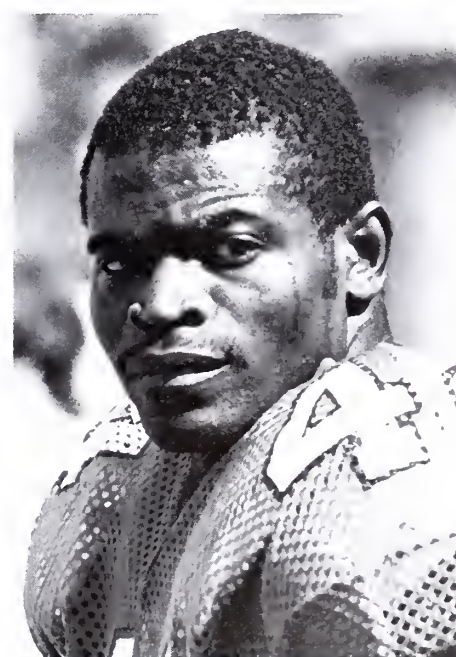

All of the others were high school halfbacks, although McCauley was best known as a defensive back.

These players have turned in some of the greatest individual performances in ACC history. In fact, Carolina players have had the three best rushing days in league history. Lawrence holds the ACC rushing record with 286 yards against Virginia in 1977. McCauley has the second-best figure with 279 yards against Duke in 1970. Third on the ACC rushing list is Voight's 261 yards against Duke in 1976.

Top single-season efforts ever in the ACC were McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976.

It has been performances like that which have made Carolina's tailback position what it is—a spot filled with tradition, a spot for special players, a spot for 1,000-yard rushers.

Choo Choo

The Incomparable Charlie Justice

There is an understandable tendency by sports fans to be wary when an athlete is called "the absolute greatest ever" or "the best who ever played."

It is so difficult to compare athletes of the past with those of today that such descriptions are generally regarded as exaggerations of overzealous publicists.

Even with that in mind, however, it is undeniably safe to say that the greatest all-around football player ever to wear Carolina Blue was Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice.

Some have even said Charlie Justice was the best all-around player in the history of the South. We won't go that far even though there's a good chance it's true. We don't want to make our readers too wary.

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar... a hero... a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state as no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowl games. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's number one college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. The war had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to make them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made the Bell Tower Chime, the late Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice Era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ringleader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb. Carl Snively had so many football players he couldn't have named them all had he taken a memory course. The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kind of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks. Plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snively—"I hope he comes out for football"—became a classic understatement.

Justice was all his press clippings indicated—and more.

Smart! Example: In the Virginia Tech opener, Justice had two kicks blocked. He bristled and vowed it would never happen again. It didn't during his collegiate career.

After Virginia Tech's 14-14 stalemate, a shocker to say the least, the Tar Heels played at Miami. Early in the game, Justice went back to punt. The Hurricane came hard with an all-out rush to block him. He faked the kick and ripped off a 65-yard touchdown run.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40 and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train.") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occatouchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record is still in the books at 4,883 yards. His punting average for four years was 42.6 yards per kick for 231 boots. Justice also was a dependable defensive player, going both ways on occasion for the Tar Heels and also as a Redskin.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runner-up for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron of College of the Pacific.

Every year since Charlie's departure from Chapel Hill, someone has a "find" who is labeled as "the next Charlie Justice." No player has yet come up to Choo Choo's standards. Good runners, yes! Expert passers, yes! Booming punters, yes! But for endurance, ability to dazzle the crowd and overall quality, there was only one Charlie Justice.

sionally shared duty with Justice when not playing the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

Justice was blessed by having excellent blocking backs in front of him (Joe Wright, Don Hartig, Eddie Knox, Paul Rizzo, Bobby Weant) and two fullbacks in Hosea Rodgers and Walt Pupa who could pass as well as run. Pupa had been a tailback in pre-war years.

The Snavelly system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by men who had the ability and maturity to accept Snavelly's often complicated maneuvers.

A book, "Choo Choo," documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All the Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64

Carolina Linebackers

The rookie who has made the biggest impact on the National Football League in recent years is unquestionably Lawrence Taylor, the sensational linebacker of the New York Giants.

Rarely has a defensive newcomer achieved what Taylor has in his first three years in the NFL. But, rarely has a rookie entered the professional ranks with the ability of Taylor.

Of course, Taylor's initial success with the Giants came as no surprise to those who had followed his great career at the University of North Carolina.

And the fact Taylor played at Carolina was no surprise to NFL fans. The Tar Heels have been turning out star linebackers for years.

The biggest star of them all may well be Taylor. Not only was he chosen the league's defensive rookie of the year in 1981 by everyone who makes such a selection, but he also was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year. He received more votes than any other NFC player in balloting for the Pro Bowl.

The second player chosen in the college draft, Taylor actually helped turn the Giant franchise around. New York, which had only a 4-12 record in 1980, improved to 9-7 in Taylor's first year there. The Giants made the playoffs for the first time since 1963.

The major reason for that improvement was an outstanding defense featuring Taylor. The New York offense wasn't great by any means, but the defense was strong enough to offset that.

Taylor has proved that rookie year was no fluke by being named Defensive Player of the Year again in each of the past two seasons.

Taylor had similar success at Carolina. He was a consensus All-America and the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year in his senior season.

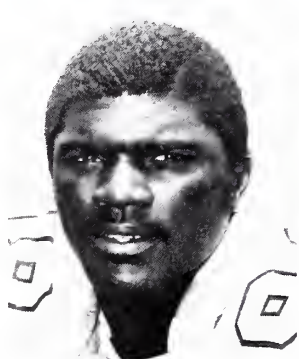

However, as mentioned earlier, Taylor was not the first Tar Heel linebacker to reach stardom in the NFL. The year before Taylor entered the league, the NFL's best rookie linebacker was Buddy Curry of the Atlanta Falcons.

Two former Tar Heel linebackers helped their teams reach the Super Bowl in the 1970's. Chris Hanburger sparked a Redskin defense which took Washington to Super Bowl VII. John Bunting was a key performer for the Philadelphia Eagles when they reached Super Bowl XV.

Hanburger is one of four former Tar Heel linebackers who have played in the Pro Bowl in the last 20 years. The others are Taylor, Bill Koman of the St. Louis Cardinals and Rip Hawkins of the Minnesota Vikings.

Hawkins, Hanburger and Curry were all two-time All-ACC selections during their college days. Jimmy DeRatt, a linebacker at Carolina in the early 1970's, also was a two-time all-conference choice.

Other Tar Heel linebackers who have made the All-ACC team since 1970 are Bunting,

Two of Carolina's all-time best linebackers, Lawrence Taylor (98) and Buddy Curry (57) team up on a big play.

Two linebackers on last year's Carolina team signed NFL contracts—Aaron Jackson with the Cincinnati Bengals and Jeff Blaylock with the Cleveland Browns. They join eight other Tar Heel linebackers still active in professional football—Taylor, Bunting, Curry, Calvin Daniels of the Kansas City Chiefs, Paul Davis of the St. Louis Cardinals, Shelton Robinson of the Seattle Seahawks, Dave Simmons of the Chicago Bears and Mike Wilcher of the Los Angeles Rams.

Oldest, Youngest, Biggest, Littlest

The oldest Carolina player is David Lowe, 27, who was born June 17, 1957.

The youngest Tar Heel is incoming freshman Steve Steinbacher, 17, born January 8, 1967.

With 305-pound Brian Blados now in the NFL, the biggest Carolina upperclassmen are offensive tackle Bobby Pope and defensive tackle Brian Johnston, who each finished spring practice at 279 pounds. However, incoming freshmen Darrell Hamilton and Tim Goad were listed at 290 and 280, respectively, last year.

The smallest Tar Heel is Eric Streater at 160 pounds.

Why Tar Heels?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

There are a number of different stories about how the nickname was originally acquired. The two most widely accepted explanations are repeated here. The fact that the production of tar, pitch and turpentine was for many years the state's principal industry is a key element in both stories.

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians, who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more Tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'n's heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

Carolina's Bowl History

North Carolina has played in 15 post-season bowl games, including 11 in the last 14 years.

No other Atlantic Coast Conference team has been to as many bowls in this recent stretch as Carolina. In fact, the only schools in America which have played in more bowls in this period are Alabama (14), Nebraska (14), Ohio State (13), Penn State (13), and Texas (13). Carolina and Oklahoma are tied for sixth with 11 appearances each, followed by Georgia, Michigan and Pittsburgh with 10 each.

Carolina's post-season trips have been to the Sugar Bowl in 1947 and 1949; the Cotton Bowl in 1950; the Peach Bowl in 1970, 1976 and 1983; the Sun Bowl in 1972, 1974 and 1982; the Liberty Bowl in 1977; the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1980; and the Gator Bowl in 1963, 1971, 1979 and 1981.

The Tar Heels' bowl history started in the late Forties when Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice was running wild from the single wing. Carolina went to bowl games three times during the Justice Era, but lost all three.

Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched Carolina against Georgia. The game produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history. Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score and eventually won the game.

Carolina returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later and lost to Oklahoma, 14-6. Justice had a great day for the Tar Heels, clicking off runs of 10, 13, 25, 11 and 14 yards. He punted four times for 65, 65, 57, and 53 yards.

Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but Carolina lost to Rice, 27-13.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance came in the 1963 Gator Bowl where Carolina walloped the Air Force, 35-0. Ken Williard was the big star that day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory.

In the 1970 Peach Bowl the Tar Heels dropped a wild 48-26 decision to unbeaten Arizona State. All-America tailback Don McCauley had 143 yards rushing and three touchdowns for Carolina. But a second-half snowstorm and an injury to quarterback Paul Miller helped the Sun Devils to race to victory.

The 1971 Gator Bowl produced a bowl first—brothers opposing each other as coaches in bowl competition. It matched Vince Dooley of Georgia against Bill of Carolina. The game was a great defensive struggle in which the Bulldogs came from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. He fired a 62-yard scoring strike to Ted Leverenz to help the Tar Heels to a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard TD pass with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then added two more points when Ronnie Robinson dropped Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James Betterson had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Mississippi State won another thriller, 26-24. The Tar Heels put on a desperation drive in the game's closing moments, but were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 48-yard line.

Playing without the injured Voight, Carolina lost to Kentucky, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels had trouble all day with a tough Wildcat defense.

Carolina dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the 1977 Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, the Tar Heels held a 17-7 lead going into the fourth period. However, the Cornhuskers rallied behind reserve quarterback Randy Garcia to score their come-from-behind victory.

Kupec and Amos Lawrence were the big stars in Carolina's 17-15 win over Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Kupec directed a 97-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter which put the Tar Heels ahead to stary (14-9). Jeff Hayes later added a 32-yard field goal. Michigan scored with 1:28 left to cut the lead to two, but a two-point pass failed.

Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes, while Lawrence ran for 118 yards. They were named co-MVPs.

Lawrence again was the big star in Carolina's 16-7 win over Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl. He rushed for 104 yards and had a 59-yard touchdown run. Carolina's other scoring came on a short plunge by Kelvin Bryant and a field goal by Hayes. A key factor in this game was the Carolina defense which limited the Longhorns to just two first downs and only 36 yards of total offense in the second half. Lawrence topped Bryant in voting for the game's outstanding offensive player, while Steve Streater edged Lawrence Taylor in balloting for the defensive MVP.

Bryant and his backup, Ethan Horton, both had big nights as Carolina defeated Arkansas, 31-27, in the 1981 Gator Bowl. Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Horton added 144. They shared the MVP award.

Horton again was the big star in 1982 as Carolina came from behind to defeat seventh-ranked Texas, 26-10, in the Sun Bowl. Coming off the bench in the second half for an injured Bryant, Horton rushed for 119 yards and won MVP honors. Sparked by his play, the Tar Heels rallied for a 10-3 halftime deficit.

However, Horton was not the only Carolina star. The Tar Heel defense, which made two brilliant goal line stands, shut down the Texas attack in the second half. Rob Rogers and Brooks Barwick each kicked two field goals despite weatehr conditions which featured a wind chill factor of 12 degrees and snow throughout the game.

Carolina suffered its first bowl loss under Dick Crum last year in the Peach Bowl. Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and was never headed in a 28-3 victory. The Tar Heels hurt themselves dearly with a fumbled punt which allowed FSU to go just 16 yards for its third touchdown and penalties which killed two drives of their own.

Ethan Horton falls for part of his 119 yards against Texas in the 1982 Sun Bowl.
